Former HUD Director Prospect to purchase Hotel on 43rd Street (Developing in the Mid-South area for 10 years)

By Beverly A. Reed, SSJ writer

After debate to turn the the abandoned 400 E. 43rd Street hotel (the recent victim of arson) into a Blues hotel subsided, the City Council is slated to grant acquisition of the building to Redevelopment Services Corporation (RSC). With the backing of Alderwoman Dorothy Tillman (3) and Congressman Bobby Rush, Ronald Gatton, owner of RSC is to utilize the building for senior housing.

Congressman Rush was enthusiastic in his approval of the acquisition, stating, "I have always supported any efforts to provide affordable housing in the community, especially for our senior residents. This is a very worthwhile project initiated by a very community orientated business person." He continued to say, "This building has been a vacant eyesore for a long time. Its redevelopment is in good hands, Gatton has a good track record", he concluded.

Alderwoman Tillman who was unavailable for comment, has supported the development of affordable senior housing at this location from the onset of the debates. She is reportedly backing Gatton on this project (which is awaiting city council approval for acquisition) as she has supported him in many other housing projects in the third ward for the past ten years. ## Organizing the Vote: 1995 Mayoral Exploration

Congressman Rush Withdraws from Race

By Christopher Moore
SSJ Staff Writer

On February 28, 1995 Chicago voters will once again fill the ballot booths to choose the next Mayor to head the city. Believing that the punch number they select, will help bring forth the ultimate victory for the faithful. In a city divided by neighborhood/racial boundaries, issues like crime, employment, housing etc... are usually the headline issues that begin a political campaign. In the African-American community there is a greater agenda shaping up to be the focus of this mayoral campaign—"A Cry

Congressman Bobby Rush

For Unity."

As U.S. Representative Bobby L. Rush announced at a news conference that he will not seek election to the office of Mayor of the City of Chicago. Rush stated "Unity is the paramount principle" reason that guided his decision. Rush further went on to "urge Attorney General Roland Burris to end his campaign immediately and join this united effort to elect Joe Gardner."

Joseph E. Gardner, commissioner of the Water Reclamation District of the City of Chicago, is now one of three remaining African Americans contenders, the other two being Atty. General Burris and Sheila Jones, along with Jones is an officially announced candidates from the Black community. In commenting on the endorsement he received from Rush, Gardner extended thanks and said, "I commend Congressman Rush for taking this crucial step to promote unity and strength within the African-American Community.

Published news reports characterize the response from the Atty. General Burris' exploratory committee, headed by Lou Palmer (Chairman of Chicago Black United Communities) and Rev. Al Sampson (Convener of the Coalition to Elect a Black Mayor, (which meets on Friday nights at Liberty Baptist Church 48th & King Dr.) and designed to test voter appeal for a Burris run for mayor, was one of "disbelief" and "defiance" to Rush and Gardner setting the agenda for African-American citizens of Chicago. However speaking to South Street Journal, the Rev. Al Sampson stood solidly on the "principle of unity." Stating that "Roland Burris has three rules: 1) Will not run against an African-American candidate. 2) Will not split the community with negative campaigning, and 3)

Del Ray Farms backs down on Purchase of Supreme building

Pictured above, in 1946 Supreme Life started as the Liberty Life Insurance Co. of Illinois by Frank L. Gillespie. Liberty was the first black-owned insurance firm in the north. The company was founded with the intention of insuring African Americans at a time when white controlled insurance firms refused blacks any coverage. In 1929, according to the 1984 "Black Metropolis Historic District: preliminary summary of Del Ray Farms ceased its bid for the historic black-owned now defunct Supreme Life and Casualty Co. Insurance building according to an announcement by Alderwoman Madeline Haithcock (D-2nd). Although "there has been no community concessions...it (the dispute) has been resolved. (Del Ray Farms) will forgo their options and will not proceed with their information" to the Commission on Chicago Historical and Architectural Landmarks, the firm "merged with two out-of-state firms to form Supreme Life and Casualty Co." The actual building was erected in 1921 but by 1924 Liberty, spurred by the incredible black-on-black growth, had purchased the, 35th and (Grand Boulevard/South Park) King drive building outright the report said. Although started at the end of the hay-day of the original "Black Metropolis", created along 35th to 37th streets on the east side of State Street, the reality and image of the Supreme Life building soon reignited and surpassed the dreams of the original State Street location. The name was taken from a celebrated study on black Chicago by St. Clair Drake and Horace R. Cayton.

plans for development." Haithcock announced at a recent weekly Community Meeting held at the Hartzell Memorial United Methodist Church, 3330 S. King Drive.

Del Ray Farms development plans included razing the now vacant building and replacing it with 11,000-square foot store with parking area to sale vegetables, fruits, meats, and fish while employing 40-people. Spokesperson for Del Ray Farms could not be reached for further comment.

"In my opinion Del (Ray) Farms decision to withdraw is a victory for the community and for Mid-South Planning and Development Commission (MSPDC)", said Harold L. # The UnZipped

Good community leaders always mend their misunderstandingsences. Hint, E. Washington and C. Butler.

Helen Y. Latimore, candidate for the 20th Ward has the likes of Rev. Al Sampson, (a convener of the Committee to Elect a Black Mayor), Professor Robert Starks and Atty. Robert Anderson. Word is, the Chicago Dept. of Housing employee had the backing of the late former 20th Ward committeeman, Cecil Partee, and she got a lots of money. Spending some of it outside of the 20th ward on Dec. 3 at TJ's Lounge and Restaurant on 55th and So. Shore Drive for a fund raiser.....Also attempting to rope in the 20th ward is Q.N. "Cowboy" Dawan (He's got to have some long rope to reach Troutman)

.....Meanwhile in the 3rd Ward, Antonio Chappell had a "Midnight Bowl" fund raiser at The Globe Bowl. Word is he raised more money than many churches on Sunday.

State Representative elect Howard Kenner and Connie Howard is chartering a bus for the Inauguration in Springfield in January.

The store on the corner of 45th and Cottage, said residents in the area don't need South Street Journal to read. All they need is a bottle of wine. That's like Daley saying CHA residents only need a bath a week.

Several buildings in Woodlawn, such as, 6501 S. Kimbark, and 6346 S. Kenwood have not had heat for about a month. Residents say it could be a conspiracy to move them out (property owners included) for the developers to renovate ie., relocate current residents.

From "Pimp Stick to Pulpit, the life story of Don 'Magic' Juan", has recently been released. Maybe the pimps on 45th & Prairie ought to rush out and get a copy.

Stephanie Mills to star in Fox 32 Christmas Special at APOSTOLIC CHURCH OF GOD.

Bishop Arthur Brazier

One of Chicago's largest churches, in the Woodlawn community, the Apostolic Church of God will host Grammy Award winner Stephanie Mills and members of the Chicago Symphonietta performing with the church's 200-voice choir in its annual Christmas concert, "Christmas Glory," on Saturday, December 10, 1994 at 7:00 p.m. The concert which will be held in the Apostolic Church of God's 4000 seat sanctuary located at 6320 S. Dorchester in Chicago, will be taped for telecast on WFLD-FOX 32 TV at 9:00 a.m. on Christmas morning and hosted by its anchor, Robin Robinson. Bishop Arthur Brazier, pastor of the Apostolic Church of God, said, "this concert will represent a message of joy and happiness as the whole Christian world celebrates the birth of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ." Musical Guest at the concert, which will attract thousands of Chicagoans, will be maestro Paul David Wilson and members of the Chicago symphonietta orchestra. Valerie Norman, producer of the Essence Awards and many other independent productions will produce "Christmas Glory." According to Valerie, this is a wonderful opportunity to showcase the musical talents of one of the greatest choirs in the country and we look forward to producing many more gospel productions from this great church." This concert will begin promptly at 7:00 p.m. Admission is free and open to the public. Parking is available. For more information call 312-667-1500.

TENANTS URGED TO CALL THE CITY WITH RENT FRAUD COMPLAINTS

Tenants are being urged to call the Department of Consumer Services with any complaints they may have concerning possible rent fraud. "It is important for Chicagoans to know their rights as tenants are protected under the law and that the City will actively enforce those laws,"

The sale of Indecorp (Drexel and Independence Bank) may be on hold. According to William Johnson, head of Omnibanc of Detroit who is up for buying the banks. Among his concerns on closing are; Outstanding debt of Indecorp, which he do not want tagged on to the selling price; a sexual lawsuit; and a meeting with Indecorp to iron out the differences which he states hard to get with Indecorp officials. Indecorp bank officials was according to Consumer Services Commissioner Caroline Orzac Shoenberger. Consumer Services has specially trained staff to investigate complaints concerning landlords who fail to return security deposits, fail to pay interest on security deposits, fail to turn over promised apartments, fail to make necessary repairs, or landlords who rent the same apartment to more than one tenant. Tenants who may have been the victim of rent fraud are urged to file a complaint with the Department of Consumer Services by calling 744-9400, TDD: 744-9385 (for hearing impaired).

December 4, 1969 - The Anniversary of the Death of Fred Hampton.

"They shot him in our bed. I was laying right next to him... 8 months pregnant with Fred Jr." Words of Akua Njeri, widow of Fred Hampton, describing the morning the leader of the Chicago Charter of the Black Panther Party was killed by the Chicago Police Department on the west side of Chicago, with Mark Clark.

With a membership of over 3,000 in 1969 nationwide, the BPP was the inspiration for many Black youth seeking identification with a rebellious state of mind. Their south side office, located at 43rd and Indiana, was headed by now Mid-South 2nd District Congressman, Bobby Rush.

Fred Hampton's son Fred Jr. is presently incarcerated. His mother heads the National People's Democratic Uhuru Movement of 54th and Halsted.

not available to return South Street Journal telephone calls. Sources inform us that Indecorp may not be living up to his end of the closing.

Mark Allen of the Black Leadership Development Institute, who is a key organizer involvement in the sale said the most important thing now is to get the two financial institutions together. Community organizations all over the city see this sell very important to the Black community.

Johnson pledged to invest $120 million in the communities of Chicago. He said if this do not go through he will find a way to invest in the Chicago area.

Mayoral candidate Commissioner Joseph Gardner made the comment that he believes there is a plan to displace low-income families in the Woodlawn community near the University of Chicago, although he says he can not prove it. How do you feel about that statement?

Yes, I would say that is a possibility because number one they (current) would not be able to afford the rent. So that would just leave the University people to take the apartments. That is how I feel about it.

Organizing the Vote

Daley." The theme of unity reverberates back from the 1983 Harold Washington Election, when a progressive coalition was formed, with the primary purpose of selecting the most electable candidate from the ranks of Black leadership.

Based on the Chicago Urban League's study, the numbers seem to indicate that depending upon the African-American voter turnout. A Black candidate with a majority Black vote can serve as to unseat Richard M. Daley.

The 1995 voting age population, cut along racial lines and is projected to show: 40.9% White, 34.8 African-American, 20% Latino and 4.3% other. In both the 1989 and 1991 Primary, Richard Daley amassed a stronghold of support amongst White voters on the Northwest and Southwest sides of the city (i.e. total of White votes- 95.5%).

In 1991 only 26.9 percent of the voting age African-Americans cast ballots, while 43.3 percent of Whites cast their ballots. The report states, Daley's total vote - 450,581, fell 149,671 votes below Harold Washington's total in 1987. According to the CUL report, there are over 500,000 registered African-American voters on the south and west sides of the city alone.

Based on numbers alone, Burris would be the practical candidate. Whereas, Board of Election officials show that in 1991, Gardner received 174,446 votes to Walter Kozubowski's 317,449 in his bid for City Clerk. Roland Burris received 492,920 Chicago votes to Jim Ryans 184,818 in their race for Attorney General in 1990. In past elections, number trends could be a good indicator of what to expect in any given election. Still what can never be measured is the commitment, a group of people can generate towards a common goal.

The African-American voice in the Mid-South Region of Chicago, epitomizes the extreme distrust in which Blacks look upon the whole political wardrobe, whether worn in Black Silk or White cashmere. This is reflected in the decline of African-American voter turnout since the 1983 Mayoral race.

"They promise everything in the beginning," stated Jamie Sheilds, a former Truant Officer who lost her job during the Daley Administration cuts, "But once they get in office, they turn their backs like they don't hear nothing!"

As evident in the 1989 and 1991 mayoral elections, (CUL atlas), Tim Evans ran against Daley in 1989, pulling 41% of the citywide vote, but about 95% of African-Americans with a Black turnout of only 36.8% of the qualified voters nearly 32 percentage points lower than in April 1983.

"Joe Gardner can win, any Black candidate can win, said a 47th St. J.J. Fish employee/co-owner, who did not wish to be identified, "if he runs as a Black candidate."

It becomes apparent, that morale building words, strength and character will determine which man will represent the sleeping giant that is the African-American voting block. This is what we need to navigate the direction of the African-American community into the 21st Century.

The Rainbow Coalition Now based in Mid-South, Operation PUSH Celebrates 23 years

Jesse Jackson Jr. head of the Rainbow Coalition now based in Chicago, from Washington D.C. heads a Voter Registration and Education Workshop held at Operation PUSH every Thursday from 6:00 - 9:00 p.m. As Operation will now focus more on civil issues, the Rainbow Coalition will focus on political issues.

Operation PUSH, founded on Christmas Day, 1971 by Reverend Jesse Lewis Jackson, Sr. will begin a month-long anniversary celebration commemorating 23 years of services to the community and nation. The civil rights organization will sponsor a gospel Celebration, Saturday, Dec. 3 at 9 am at the national Headquarters, 930 E. 50th Street.

High School students are especially urged to attend. Community residents are also invited to come out and become involved in the political process. Jackson Jr. the son of Operation Push founder is also considered to run for congress in the 2nd District against Congressman Mel Reynolds.

In the Spirit of Giving

Youth Leadership Council, is an organization dedicated to African American Youth. In operation since 1991, YLC has engaged young people in the understanding and implementation of the Nguzo Saba, or seven principals, in our Black value system.

For Kwanzaa 1994 they will sponsor a community extravaganza on Saturday, December 10th from 3-7pm. This event will be held at the Parkway Community House, 500 E. 67th Street. There is no charge for admission. This is an opportunity for our children to learn more about Kwanzaa and witness positive youth leadership in action.

In keeping with the spirit of the Kwanzaa season, please bring your zawadi (gifts) wrapping it if possible, label it boy/girl and indicate age range, to Parkway Community House c/o Roosevelt Roberts or call Baba Hannibal Afrik at (312) 568-1243 to arrange pick up service. Gifts will be accepted through December, and will be opened by the children and their families on January 1st.

Mid-South Planning Launches the Bronzeville Institute

The Bronzeville Institute Planning Project is the latest venture by MSPDC to ensure the availability of training programs for the residents of the Mid-South. Enabling them to take advantage of the economic development that is taking place in their community.

Irene Espinosa, a Chicago native, has recently been named the Project's Manager. Ms. Espinosa has acquired extensive experience in project management in the corporate environment. Recently she has been in economic development research and planning, for Dearborn Homes Resident Management Corporation (DHRMC).

Ms. Espinosa's aim is to solicit input from all groups in the Mid-South area that have a stake in the Institute. The input received will be the basis for the design of the Bronzeville Institute.

Former director

properties in their ward.

Gatton, as a former Regional Administrator of the six state region of HUD began to do development for his own portfolio in 1985. Since then Gatton has been general partner for the development of 622 rental units in 13 projects in Illinois, Michigan and Iowa. RSC has been involved with the development of more than 18 buildings (over 300 units) in the Mid-South community. Including 44th & Vincennes, 44th & Greenwood, 49th & Drexel and St. Edmunds Place. Many of the properties are low-income including 4351-59 So. King Dr. and 444-47 E. 46th Street.

Gatton told South Street Journal, "I sort of stumbled across my first project at 44th and King Drive. It was such a nice building, as I began to look around the neighborhood, I became more and more taken with the development potential as well as the historical significance and architectural style of the properties." Gatton continued, "It was my theory that if the big buildings [that require more capital and experience to renovate] were done, it would motivate the other property owners (single family homeowner, two and three flat properties) to upgrade, and stabilize the community."

It would seem the size and condition of the 43rd and King Dr. building would deter some from this daunting task, yet Gatton is confident that his company can meet the challenge to provide the community's seniors with affordable housing at this location. Noting that his Drexel Towers development at 48th, 49th and King Drive has over 130 units.

With regards to development consulting, RSC is thoroughly familiar with a wide variety of governmental and conventional financing programs; various developmental and rental subsidy programs; and raising equity through the Low Income Housing Tax Credit program.

Acquisition of an abandoned property can be made through the Chicago Abandoned Property Program (CAPP). This program was established by Mayor Daley. In late 1990 state legislation passed a bill (sponsored by Daley) authorizing the acquisition of legally abandoned buildings.

Qualified properties must be proven to be dangerous and hazardous, unoccupied, taxes or water bills must be unpaid for at least two years, and the owner must fail to appear in court.

The listing of CAPP buildings comes out quarterly, anyone may apply for a CAPP property, but should be able to demonstrate the capacity to complete the project. Good credit, a steady income and sufficient savings are also required if a loan will be needed to renovate to property. For buildings larger than six units, you must have prior rehab experience.

Neighborhood Crime Bill - The Neighborhood (This mean you (misguided young child) - G

The Marines are looking for a few good men and Mayor Daley and other politicians are looking for a lot of you, young Black men- to incarcerate -

There was a time when belonging to a gang meant a little prestige, a sense of belonging and an opportunity to rebel, as you looked for your place in life. The activities that 'Youth Organizations' (as Century 21 VOTE calls you) participated in then could get one arrested, but hardly ever resulted in long term jail sentences on a massive level, as it is today.

These are not idle words, but are based on my own gangbanging days around 53rd & State and Princeton during the mid Sixties, which could have culminated in jail or worse, fortunately someone gave me a copy of The Autobiography of Malcolm X and Soul on Ice by Eldridge Cleaver, which addressed the inner-city frustration, recognizing and pointing out to me, that this was a collective frustration. I then realized, destruction of self and the community environment, was definitely not the answer. We (like you) were mad about something and didn't know what.

Now, it is still those same needs that draw you into gangs but the results are far more devastating. No longer interested in hub caps and petty theft, many of you are making hundreds of thousands of dollars peddling drugs (which we all know is the main trigger to the madness). Violence is so commonplace a murder is unusual only when one does not occur. How many times have we heard the phrase "senseless killing."

Now adults view a young 13 year old shooting dice, at 4525 S. Federal by the elevator, in silence. Parents seem to have lost their authority and no one else dares say a word to the pistol toting angry young men who seem to rule the streets. Not based on being afraid but, because you are seen as a lost cause.

We are bombarded by the media with images of viciousness and brutality in Blackface. Especially when the perpetrator strays from his own neighborhood and someone (white) else gets hurt. Unless of course, a child is killed "in the hood" then it is smeared all over the screen. Look, they killed again.

The elected officials, playing on the grief and tragedy that is inflicted upon "good African-American citizens" and the basic underlying fear that folks have of Black

Young Men. Have now come up with the perfect solution (and what politicians hopes is a surefire election winner).

The Safe Neighborhoods Bill designed to incarcerate as many of you as they can get their handcuffs on. Yet this Safe Neighborhood Bill is being hailed by community organizations that supposedly care about the youth. It is sponsored by State Senator Emil Jones of Chicago and State Representatives Tom Dart of Chicago and Tom Cross of Yorkville. Their targets include gangs, gun traffickers, drug

Together We Thank Our Creator from Thanksgiving to CHRISTMAS

By Dawn Ewing

This holiday season is a very meaningful one for some. It is a time to get closer to God and family. We aren't just eating and conjugating. "We are grateful for togetherness, health and hope," says LaTonya Goldsmith. LaTonya is the mother of three children Timothy 5, Deonta 3, and Harry Jr. 2, She says she and her Fiance Harry Durden Sr. are thankful for sobriety this year." They shopped for their Christmas tree the day after Thanksgiving.

The holiday season as a whole is a very spiritual time for this family. "It means more when you celebrate from Thanksgiving to New Year's instead of just one day for each holiday." At their customary expressions of thanks before their meal her son Timothy stated how thankful he was Christmas was coming. "After reading some inspirational writings and the Bible, then praying I felt a sense of peace and as if a heavy burden had been lifted," says Ms. Goldsmith, who resides in the old Rosenwald Building at 50 E. 47th Street, where Christmas decorations can be seen already.

Theza Powers, her fiance Al Smith and their three boys are also grateful to God this year.

Residents of the Robert Taylor Homes, They have experienced a lot, some good and some life-threatening. Life, Health, and family top their list of things to be grateful for. They celebrated a traditional Thanksgiving dinner with their extended family, compromised of her mom, Dorothy, 3 brothers, aunt's, uncle's and cousins.

They feasted on delicacies prepared and served at her grandmother's. Theza stated that she won't be giving gifts this year as she has done on past years because she is preparing to move. She basically goes through the formality of putting up a tree and decorations for her children. Ms. Powers do every year, with her uncle Carl Collins and wife Veronica along with their entire family.

Overall the two families strong ties to God and one another should serve as inspiration to others to draw closer to God and family, not only at Thanksgiving and Christmas but always.

The Senior Citizen on the Scene in Woodlawn

Dear Editor,
The Senior Citizens Society of St. Gelasius are lively group that are involved in many activities during the year. They are involved in the various social as well as civil activities of the church community. Some volunteer at the school dances and group performances, while others co-ordinate the Christmas Sharing program at the school. The group spends many evenings out attending dinne and plays.

One of the members, Sister Maude Pugh, initiated a lovely idea that was a total success thi Thanksgiving. It was simply to come together to celebrate and share our lives with each other. We did this with a beautiful and elaborate Pre-Thanksgiving dinner. It emerged as an idea of beauty and togetherness to share our friendship a thoughts.

The members of the society went all out and created an absolutely stunning display. The abundance of food was overwhelming, signifying the gratitude that this group has for life and each other.

The South Street Journal and Ron Carter were also a part of the celebration as the members expressed their sentiment about having a community newspaper that takes the time to not only consider the seniors of the Mid-South community but also writes about them as well (t article on Ruth Cummings).

Sincerely,
The Senior Citizens Society of St. Gelasius

Remarks RE: SUPREME LIFE PROPERTY

(WEDNESDAY-NOV. 23, 1994/ 6:30 P.M.)

The Supreme Life property at 35th and King Drive and the status of current plans for development of that property. The issue of the proposed development of Supreme Life has generated a tremendous amount of controversy within the community, divergent views and opinions from a broad spectrum of the community.

Since the meeting on October 12th, I have heard from literally hundreds of residents, both in the immediate area of 35th and King Drive as well as from the larger community, the expressed views on this issue have been sharply divided—between those people who are supportive and in favor of the proposal for commercial development of Supreme Life, and those who are adamantly opposed to that development, primarily because they want to see the building preserved for its historic value to the black community.

In any event, however, there has been no clear consensus or predominant view that reflects the overall sentiment of the community as a whole, with respect to this development proposal.

Background on the Issue

For the benefit of those who may not have attended meetings, or who may not be familiar with the pertinent facts relating to this current controversy, first, the development proposal at issue calls for demolition of the existing Supreme Life Buildings and construction of an "upscale" fresh produce market and grocery at that location.

A prospective purchaser attended our meeting, on October 12th, and presented their plans.

Present Status of the Buildings

The Supreme Life property has been vacant for years, from the time that Supreme Life ceased doing business as an insurance company. The corporation itself is currently in the process of legally dissolving under the supervision of the state insurance department—which is required, by law, to oversee the distribution of the company's assets to shareholders.

The major asset, of course, is the company's real estate which consists of the main 2-story corner building at 35th & King Drive, the former headquarters and corporate offices of Supreme Life Insurance Co.

This property also includes five Adjacent row-houses that were originally a residential unit, but were later converted by the company and used for records storage. Area residents and community representatives participated in the tour, on November 15th, along with two experienced architects who offered their opinion as to the feasibility of rehabilitation.

The office building and the row-houses—were severely deteriorated and damaged in many areas and would necessarily require massive repairs and reconstruction for proper rehabilitation and restoration of the property.

In supportive viable proposals for development of that site—whether in the form of commercial projects or otherwise. I strongly share the very legitimate concerns, that this property not be allowed to simply become another white elephant or, worse yet, A monstrous eyesore that continually sits vacant for yet another 3-to-4 years, or perhaps even longer, while progressively deteriorating to the point of eventually crumbling and collapsing completely.

The position to forgo the purchase

With these considerations in mind, recent discussions with the developers of Del Ray Farms, from the community in response to their proposal. I would like to have seen a community consensus on this project. While that has been the case, we have nevertheless reached a determination to resolve this controversy.

The developers fully recognize, as I do, this is entirely a private business transaction between private parties, involving no tax dollars or public funds whatsoever. They therefore have a legal right to proceed with their contract for purchase of the Supreme Life property and development of their proposed business at that site. Based on our recent discussions, however, the developers have instead determined that they will forgo their existing purchase option of the property and will not proceed with their plans for the Del Ray farms development at this time.

This decision comes as a big disappointment to residents in the immediate area of 35th & King Drive who, almost unanimously, were in favor of the Del Ray farms proposal. Others, will be pleased and relieved by this decision in particular, the Mid-South Planning and Development Commission, which has had a long-standing interest on the Supreme Life property as part of its "Bronzeville Plan".

Steps needed to move ahead

In any event, there are serious implications for the future status and development of this property.

I will continue to encourage and support the development of that property in whatever manner is viable, expedient and appropriate whether that development is undertaken by Mid-South Planning, or whether it is an acceptable proposal from some other successful purchaser.

If Mid-South Planning is indeed interested it should therefore immediately take whatever steps are necessary and appropriate to actively pursue that objective.

These initial efforts should include, at a very minimum, a well-prepared, formal proposal submitted by Mid-South Planning to the owners of Supreme Life. Mid-South has not yet done to this point, as a former banker, it is long overdue!

Financial Considerations

Financial resources are perhaps the most important the owners are asking for a price in the range of $650,000 to $675,000 of the property.

Added to that purchase price is restoring and reconstructing the architectural experts agreed that the building could be restored if adequate and sufficient financial resources were in fact available one of the architects who inspected the property, Mr. Ron Lucas, provided estimate costs this states, in pertinent part, that these estimated figures merely provide a realistic economic context on which we should all consider for all of our shared hopes and dreams of preserving Supreme Life, as a testament to our history, the cold, inescapable reality is that it will take enormous sums of money to do that.

How, and even if, that can be accomplished is the single-most important question for Mid-South Planning at this point.

The Position of Mr. John Johnson

One of the speakers at our earlier community meeting suggesting John Johnson, as the principal owner, had "Forgotten his roots and should come back to our community and help us preserve Supreme Life".

In my own conversations with him, he has given no indication whatsoever that he is at all inclined to simply "donate" this building to anyone. He very clearly stated that he is not the sole owner of the property and other shareholders have to be paid from the sale of the property. I would suggest that Mid-South Planning take guidance from the implicit advice given by Mr. Johnson, when he states in his book, "Succeeding Against the Odds", that "the road to the future, in other words, depends on ethnic entrepreneurs doing their own thing instead of depending on external banks and financier who will, out of necessity force them to do their thing."

That statement was entirely misinterpreted when it was quoted by the speaker at our earlier meeting there is nothing in that statement which would even suggest that John Johnson is willing to "give away" a $650,000 price of property. Mr. Johnson is simply advising us of the wisdom of utilizing available resources within our own community.

Mid-South Planning role

Mid-South Planning should defiantly consider tapping-into some of those resources to help advance its cause—particularly, the many well-known, successful black developers and contractors locally (such as Dempsey Travis, Elize Higgenbottom, Robert Martin and other) who may be able to provide assistance in the development plans and possibly other resources.

To first determine exactly where Mr. Johnson stands to help preserve Supreme Life he should be presented with a formal proposal in any event time is obviously of the essence at this somewhat belated juncture. Although the Delray Farms project will not go forward at this time, there undoubtedly are many other interested developers "waiting on the wings" for an opportunity to secure this prime location, for any number of potential development projects.

Landmark designation

I am aware that Mid-South Planning has previously requested landmark status for the Supreme Life Building (along with residential structures in the area) they requested the city to expedite the process for Landmark designation.

I want to state publicly that I have opposed that request, and will continue to oppose landmark designation, primarily for one simple reason: Mid-South Planning and Development does not own Supreme Life, nor does it own any of the homes or other property for which they have requested landmark designation. In fact, many of the homeowners with whom I have spoken are adamantly opposed to landmark status for their property—which is entirely understandable, given the severe restrictions and limitations automatically placed on any property that is designated as landmark property, specifically in terms of limiting the kinds of improvements, alterations, and other exterior changes the owner is allowed to make.

As alderman, I will not support or seek to impose landmark status designation for the Supreme Life property at this time, or for any other privately-owned property, for which the property owner has not given express consent and approval.

If in fact, Mid-South Planning and Development ultimately becomes the owner of Supreme Life, and wishes to seek Landmark status for the property at that time, I will of course fully support that effort.

My overall position

I will remain ready, willing and available to offer every appropriate measure of support and assistance to Mid-South Planning and Development, in its efforts to acquire and re-develop the Supreme Life property.

My offer of assistance and support should not be misconstrued or mistaken to mean that I will act as either a developer or a financier, a lawyer or a negotiator or otherwise "represent" Mid-South Planning there are numerous experts available in all of these areas, who have the special skills and qualifications to properly handle matters of this nature. To the community as a whole, I want to assure you that I will continue to be very attentive to the on-goings status of the Supreme Life property and to any future proposals or plans involving that property. And, as I have done throughout on this and other major development proposals affecting the community, I will of course keep you fully informed.

The issue of the proposed development of Supreme Life has generated a tremendous amount of controversy within the community, divergent views and opinions from a broad spectrum of the community.

Editors Note: In the last editorial some members of the community were offended at the reference to "the so-called handicapped." It was the intention to convey the idea, that anyone who sets their mission and completes it successfully as the members of Barrier Busters did in this incident, could not accurately be described as handicapped. In context, the phrase merely represents the idea that commitment, confidence and capability could not be characterized as a handicap. Upon anyone being offended by the wording of the editorial, I hope that this clarify the intention.

Wadsworth School Seized the Banner and Carried the Torch

On November 5, 1994, Wadsworth Elementary School seized the banner and carried the torch at the District Six Parenting Conference, held at the District Six/Canal Office, located at 4071 So. Lake Park. The conference was sponsored and planned by the District Six Council, which consists of a Local School Council in the district. Mrs. Ruth Cummings, the district representative from Wadsworth, played a leading role in organizing the conference.

The conference opened with a general session, followed by workshops on Parenting Skills, Conflict Resolution, How and Why of Homework, Self Esteem, Safe Schools, Common Sense Parenting, Substance Abuse and Gangs. Parents were encouraged and recruited to attend and Wadsworth seized the banner and carried the torch by having the largest number of parents in attendance of any school in the district.

Parents attending were Marlowe Cribbs, Gloria Smith, Helen Cunine, Everline Smith, Sandra Williams, Regina Gonnigan, Geraldine Liggan, Dorothy Jones, Rachel Craig and Alisa Whitley. These parents came out in horrible weather to support the conference and Wadsworth. Ms. Gonnigan was commended for braving the elements with her smallest child in a stroller.

Other children in attendance were Christopher Cunine, Latia Williams, Victoria Williams, Louis Love Masaada Love, Lakristiana Love, Natasha Smith, Jeremy Doss and Lanier Smith. A bus was provided for those without transportation.

Wadsworth students served as monitors and usherettes. Robert Smith, Crystal Hollins, Janell Eastes, and Zisha Travis (eighth grade)

Ikisha McGill and Latanique Ferguson (seventh grade) and Edress Martin and Evelyn King represented the sixth grade. These students directed parents to workshops, kept order and served with dignity, efficiency and poise. Upon arrival, they obtained conference folders and quickly familiarized themselves with the workshop topics, locations and providers. They relieved one another periodically in order to check on the progress of the sessions and to become more knowledgeable of the workshop contents.

Those in attendance, were unanimous in their praise for the terrific job performed by these students.

While the parents were attending workshops, their children were supervised by five Wadsworth teachers who made the commitment to provide activities for the children. Those teachers were Sharon Griffin, Sharon Townsend, Ernestine Maxie, Youlanda Royster and Jenelle Harper. Royster and Harper also brought their babies, Dakari and Naomi, respectively. Helen Plicque, a teacher at the Wadsworth Child-Parent Center, was also in attendance and recruited parents from the center.

Dr. Joseph Hahn, District Superintendent and Nailah Muttalib, District Council President, said, "We were effusive in bestowing accolades upon Mrs. Cummings, the parents, the students, and the teachers of Wadsworth for truly "seizing the banner and carrying the torch." Dr. Milton S. Albritton is the principal of Wadsworth and the Wadsworth Child-Parent Center.

David Lily expressed a desire to continue group work with parents, students and the school staff.

Chess tournaments, soccer games, entrepreneurial training. These are not the activities one usually hears in connection with the Robert Taylor Homes, but it's exactly what takes place in the Robert Taylor's Boys and Girls Club on 5120 So. Federal, which seeks to offer Boys and Girls an alternative to the gangs and violence that surround their lives.

The Robert Taylor Club originally served youth in the community ages 6-18, but realizing that many young adults in the community needed alternatives as well, extended their services to youth up to 25. The Club offers basketball, volleyball, swimming and computer training, GED, job assistance and many other sports and educational activities. Children ages 6-18 must be enrolled in school and maintain a C+ average in order to participate in the club activities.

"The Mission of the club," says Charles Brown, Director, Boys and Girls Club, "is to recruit kids in the Projects and breakdown the social forces like gangs and drugs that threaten to destroy their lives." Brown feels that programs and activities such as basketball and job training positively counteract violence and drugs.

Brown is also a well respected artist and has been instrumental in bringing notoriety to the club with his murals for the Children's Museum, the Hall Branch Library and the University of Chicago Hospital.

The club again received notoriety after recently building and eating the worlds largest hero sandwich sponsored by the Cheese Federation and Neal Anderson (former Chicago Bear's team member) The event was covered by news stations around the country. The children's ability to eat most of the sandwich garnered the club a 2,000 dollar monetary prize.

Tommy Pegues, the Social Recreation Director, cites such activities as proof of the abilities of the children of Robert Taylor Homes.

Development of a Black Cultural Tourism District will be another aspect of The Bronzeville Institute's community focus. Their intent is to recapture the spirit of Black culture that existed in the 20's and 30's when the first became known as the Black Metropolis.

Ms. Espinosa encourages leaders and residents of the Mid-South area to contact her directly at MSPDC, (312) 924-1330.

Mid-South

In addition, the business and non-profit sector of the community, who are the major suppliers of jobs to the Mid-South, will incorporate their experience and involvement molding the success of this innovative new project.

Development of a Black Cultural Tourism District will be another aspect of The Bronzeville Institute's community focus. Their intent is to recapture the spirit of Black culture that existed in the 20's and 30's when the first became known as the Black Metropolis.

Our Local Business Person

Partners, (Standing)
William "Bill" Randle &
Rev. Samuel B. Rawls

Rawls
Mortuary

Starting in 1975 with no capital these gentlemen have managed to create a business that is successful and keeps the clients' needs up front.

How did you get interested in this field?

My family owns two funeral homes one of which is located at 3834 So. Indiana. Initially, I wanted to help my dad (Dr. Louis B. Rawls). However, I soon realized that this was what I wanted to do as well.

Where did you attend school? I attended Wilson Junior College, Chicago Teachers College and Worsham College of Mortuary Science.

What is your birthdate and birthplace? I was born on July 22, 1945, in Brandon Mississippi.

Any Family? Yes, I have one daughter who will be starting medical school soon and five wonderful sons.

Who inspired you to succeed in this profession and how? My dad and Roy Evans, who owned a wonderful home at 33rd & Indiana and

If you weren't in this business, what business would it be? Entertainment, I've traveled throughout Europe as a singer while in the army.

Personal Hero? God, I may not be what I ought to be, but since God came into my life, I am a whole lot better than I used to be.

What are your company's special features? We pride ourselves on our expertise in the Restorative Arts, our relationship with our families during their time of bereavement, as well as our repair with the community. We believe it is important to put the family's needs and capabilities in front of profit.

What do you feel about the neighborhood/community? Our problems start at home. In the old days we knew the difference between child abuse and discipline. It seems we have deserted our morals and values and taken up those of another culture. People have become more concerned with gain than with giving.

What advice would you give to entrepreneurs just starting out? You must be prepared to work diligently and to persevere, it is an honorable field. Understand that concern for the family is as important as profit. I learned that from my dad and Roy Evans, they both set good examples.

McDonald's Managers to attend Hamburger University

Manager from several McDonald's restaurants are all smiles after competing a seven-week training course and receiving their certificate of completion as certified swing managers, from the Black McDonald's Operator's Association (BMOA).

The group is now enrolled in a more comprehensive management training class at Hamburger University, McDonald's fully-accredited training facility. The program was designated by the BMOA

"to improve service and customer satisfaction in our Restaurants," said Tom Spencer McDonald's owner/operator and Coordinator of the training program.

Two Mid-South Grocery Stores charged short-Weighting of meat

The Department of Consumer Services conducted a month-long inspection of dozens of grocery stores to ensure customers were not being overcharged when purchasing packaged meat and poultry items.

24 grocery stores were charged with short-weighting meat and poultry items; weighting an item listed on the price tag not accurately reflecting the actual weight.

Inspectors found alleged short-weighting of items that included chickens, chicken parts, turkey parts, beef roasts, steaks and pork roasts. Anyone who has a complaint is urged to call the 744-9400.

The store owners charged with violations are required to appear in court in December. If found guilty, they could be fined a maximum of $500 for each violation.

The stores charged with short-weighting in Mid-South are:
Hyde Park Coop, 1526 E. 55th St.
Top Notch Food Center, 5041 S. Prairie St.

INTRODUCING SOUTH STREET JOURNAL YOUTH EDITOR,

Chez Finley

What's up,

South Street Journal readers, my name is Chez Finley and I'm the new youth editor for the South Street Journal. But before I tell you all the exciting things I have in store for you, let me tell you a little bit about myself.

I am 16 years old a junior at Dunbar Vocational High School. My favorite hobbies include listening to Hi-5, talking on the phone, or chilling with the pimps at Ford City.

As Youth Editor, I plan to educate, inform, and humor the youth. I would like to showcase teens doing positive things. It seems like everyone is always speaking down on teenagers, never saying anything good about us. It's like people try to keep teenagers in the dark. Well, I am here to try and shed some light on us, by printing the work of the talented creative teens that we are.

Grove Parc Plaza Apartments

(formerly the Woodlawn Gardens)
How Times Have Changed.

The Woodlawn Gardens was once a nice place to live, kids could go outside and play even at night. In the summertime you could barbeque on your porch while socializing with your neighbor. The neighbors were like family, they would watch each others children and go places together. There was rarely any gunfire or gangfights, yes there were drugs but they definitely were not heavy the way it is now.

The Woodlawn Gardens were like one big happy family, everyone knew each other and looked out for one another. But, that was then.

Today is a different story, this is my update on the Woodlawn Gardens. The complex is now under new management headed by Ms. Donna Lillybridge. It has changed its name to Grove Parc Plaza Apartments, and the people who once lived there are all gone.

As more people started to move into the complex, some brought their rowdy and rude behavior with them as well. This is how a once peaceful place to live, began to go down in shambles the rules got tougher and stricter and the people grew angry and desperate. Its not safe to stay out late anymore. People are scared to come out of their own homes because of the gang wars and shootings every night. It's a shame we have to be prisoners in our own homes. We as a community, shouldn't live this way. Tell me, anybody, how can we get our community back to the way it was?

TEENAGE PREGNANCY

I think teenage pregnancy has gone too far. Ten and eleven year old children are having sex. Girls 13, 14, 15 and 16 years old getting pregnant. Tell me where are all of the morals and values that were supposed to be instilled in these kids? I make sure my 15 year old daughter knows about sex and the consequences of unplanned, unprotected, underage sex. I suggest other parents do the same.

TERRIFIC TEEN

The Terrific Teen for this month is Bernia Cleaves. She is a 16 year old Junior at Dunbar Vocational High School where she majors in Vocational Radio Broadcasting. She has won awards in Citizenship & Data Processing. She has also made the Honor Roll three years in a row.

When Bernia is not studying, she can be seen holding the offering basket at her church. She also prepares and serves the food for the elderly members. You will also see Bernia and other youths cleaning up around the Hyde Park area, on weekends.

After high school, Bernia plans to attend Jackson State University. She intends to major in Radio Broadcasting. We asked Bernia where she would be in ten years, she replied, "In ten years I will be working in the radio field and raising my family." GO BERNIA!

Hippy

basic bond between parents and children, according to descriptive literature. Supported by easy-to-use activity packets, home visits and group meetings, HIPPY parents learn how to prepare their children for success in school and beyond. For more information about the program, call HIPPY at 747-7805 or 535-1300.

Ask Trina

Dear Trina
Every time me and my boyfriend are together he always brings up the subject of sex. He knows I'm not ready for sex yet! Still, I don't want to lose him. What should I do?
Peaches

Dear Peaches,

If you are not ready for sex, don't do it!! Your virginity is very precious, if your boyfriend really loves you, he will wait until you're ready. If he threatens to leave, then let him.

Dear Trina

Me and my boyfriend are expecting our first child. We have been together for quite some time, but when he's with his friends, he acts different toward me. I am starting to think he has another woman on the side. What should I do?

Rochelle

Dear Rochelle;

Sit down and talk to your boyfriend tell him how his actions make you feel. If he doesn't reconsider his actions, you and your child should find someone who will treat you the way you need to be treated, all the time.

Dear Trina;

My best friend constantly flirts with my boyfriend and tells him nasty lies about me. Other people tell me she has been starting rumors about me what should I do?

Nikki

Dear Nikki;

First of all, Nikki, if she is flirting with your boyfriend & saying nasty things about you, are you sure she is your bestfriend? I suggest you sit down with her and tell her how all this makes you feel. If the two of you can't reach an agreement, ditch her.

Dear Trina

My parents don't have a lot of money therefore, I don't dress with Guess clothing & Nike shoes. The problem is, my friends are always making fun of me. How should I deal with it?

Jack

Dear Jack,

If these were really your friends, they would understand your situation and try to help you, instead of making fun of you. So what you need to do is find you another set of friends.

Purchase of Supreme Life building

beginnings of a technical and educational center.

The Supreme Life Building is currently owned by a group of investors headed by publisher John H. Johnson. The now defunct agreement between the Johnson group and Del Ray Farms would have destroyed what some south siders considered to be a monument highlighting the African American presence and struggle in Chicago.

With this victory MSPDC plans to use the Supreme Life building as a foundation-stone towards a new Black Metropolis. "MSPDC", explained Lucas, "wants people to know that it was people like John H. Johnson and the founders of Liberty that built an economic foundation in the 1920's and 1930' that rivaled any (financial institution) in the world and it was the starting point for Jet and Ebony magazines." African Americans have to utilize our cultural and economic history in Chicago to "redevelop one of the most important economic centers in the nation as far as African Americans are concerned Lucas said.

Lucas has been at the forefront to save what MSPDC believes the Supreme Life structure and historical image represents to a world wide community of African related peoples. For Lucas the area of 35th and King Drive embraces a historical and, if MSPDC has its say, a current Who's Who in the African American experience. "We live in one of the most historical neighborhoods in the city and we have never (developed) it." Lucas argues.

Donald Linder, Ph.d., the Chairman of the Education Commission at MSPDC understands Lucas' argument and adds his own insights. "The building is in a very strategic area. It's located in a major thoroughfare". Supreme Life, Linder analyzed, is a "high traffic area" and "close to the loop" as well as being a gateway to any current or future "Black Metropolis". Linder's investigation and reference to a "Black Metropolis" was explained as not only a historical reference but an indication of the economic promise of the land value of the near-lake black south side.

If the property changed hands "they (Del Ray Farms) would bring in meats, and vegetables and people whose loyalties and needs follow that" but, he added, "the produce would generate a lot of traffic - and that's okay - but it (that traffic) would not reflect the history of or necessarily the interest of the area. It would reflect produce: vegetable, carrots, and turnips." Linder believes by keeping the building and making it into an "office and small business base it would bring in a different business spirit" thereby reflecting a more beneficial interest to the south side community at-large.

George Lowe, a representative of the Residents Council of Lake Meadows, said he believes that a further study by Del Ray Farms of the area's crime statistics made a larger impact upon their decision to "forgo" development of the land. "The crime rate in the area would have been disastrous to an open air market" Lowe believes. Combined with a lack of community support which he believes never materialized during any community meetings caused Del Ray Farms to re-think. He claims both business and political supporters of the Del Ray Project "lags behind the (majority) community consciousness. Although Lowe is not in complete agreement about Mid-South Planning's project, either, "I am enthused about its efforts." Lowe said his judgement of the community meetings concerning the Supreme Life issue showed "80% of the community was behind (Lucas)."

Linder expanded upon his view of the communities concerns saying "you can't fight" that the produce market would bring in more people but the community would better be served if the Supreme Life building would be used as an "incubator: tourist, information, and educational center." In this way, he believes, "It would hopefully bring in people, anyway, and generate capitol" to have a better chance of staying within the community. Linder pointed out that the immediate Supreme Life area's business enterprises consisted mostly of outside run businesses, a few black owned franchises and even fewer small black owned businesses (SBOB) with even fewer of those SBOB being non-tavern/beauty aid centered businesses. Because of the possibly large percentage of the high- traffic business created by Del Farms it would be other ethnic groups, Linder cited, who would see "the produce (proposal) generating more business." According to the Black Metropolis report whites created an "alternate" business area along 47th street where they "controlled the property to such an extent that Black owned businesses were virtually excluded from the area...creating what become known as the "Browzeville's skid-row" by the 1950's.

"The bottom line is. You first have to purchase the property. Where are you (MSPDC) going to get the money. You cannot get it from (the community)" Dr. Mercedier deFreitas Goodwin, area resident said at the community meeting. According to the report "Chicago Politics" this south side community "is one of the poorest in the city, if not the poorest. It is the cite of 38 percent of all the public housing in the city. The relative affluence of middle-class high rises in the north-eastern (part) of the (area) is more than balanced by the poverty of the (area's) west side."

Alderwomen Haithcock also cautioned the participants of the Hartzell Church community meeting that "the location (of Supreme Life) makes it a major focal point. Thus, if Mid-South Planning is interested in developing they should submit a formal proposal to the owners of Supreme Life" Both factions, for and against, estimate the buildings worth to be between $650,000 to $675,000. "How Mid-South gets the money is the single most important question" Haithcock said and adding that Johnson "has given no indication what-so-ever that he is inclined to donate" the building. "He and the other share holders need to be given (their share)." The Alderwoman said that there are also "severe restrictions" upon property given landmark status. Haithcock warned the meeting that she "will not support or seek to impose land mark status" upon any property until she has spoken to each respective property owner.

The issue of land mark status is "complete nonsense" said Lowe, "there are always those, mostly outsiders, who come in and see the value of landmark status." he claimed all property owners need do is "leave the front (of the property) the same" and are then free to refurbish the interior and sale or keep their property as they will. "The city", he said, "will often provide the renovation money." Lowe cited what he said are the examples of the near north side, Chinatown, Greektown and other gentrified areas. Tim Wittman, a Preservation Specialist for the Landmarks division of the Department of Planning and Development with the Commission of Chicago Landmarks said the case of Supreme life is currently in the process of further study. "We will hold a hearing at 320 N. Clark, room 516, at 12:45 pm on 4 January 1995 to hear arguments".

Lucas said development plans are being sent to Johnson to "collaborate with other entrepreneurs: L.C. Higgenbottom, Dempsey Travis and a meeting with Tim Samuelson, also a Preservation Specialist" who handles the Supreme Life building litigation.

Lucas believes the building can become a "tribute" to the John Johnson's, Frank L. Gillespie's, Jesse Binga's, Robert S. Abbott's and Anthony Overton's of yesterday and tomorrow.

Gardner

worked closely with Washington and this has prepared me for the task I have now. Gardner, a former staff person for The Woodlawn Organization and was appointed to many posts by Washington.

Mr. Carter, worked with Joe Gardner when both were heavily involved in community organizing. The audience nodded in agreement when Carter stated, "One of the first and smartest moves that Harold Washington made was to appoint Gardner to the Department of Neighborhoods. Carter continued to say, "Many organizers like myself thought it was time to retire with a person like Gardner heading the Department of Neighborhoods. Then the city council voted the department out which meant stopping Harold and Gardner in this important move. It was a awakening for the community, in that we realized just because Harold was mayor, didn't mean that our work was finished."

As Gardner continued, questions were raised on his decision to run for mayor. One 20th ward resident asked, "Are you going to support Dino McNeal for Alderman?" Gardner responded, "It is too early to say, I would not know that until the petitions are final with the election board." He continued, "I am a part of this community, and part of the process that addresses the concerns of the Woodlawn community."

"As mayor I will commit myself fully to a reduction in gang participation and gang violence." We can't legislate a reduction in crime (referring to Daley's crime bill). We have to give them the opportunity to get a job instead of selling dope." Gardner concluded

VOTE

South Street Journal's November 5th Endorsements

First of all, we encourage voters not to vote for Judge Richard Crane for letting those police officers get away for shooting at the Black couple. Even though Judge Eugene Pincham says he should be retained. Under the law Crane did the right thing.

Rod Blagojevich the Democratic nominee for governor, neither GOP nominee Jim Ryan took a public position on Judge Crane. A sign of what voters may expect from a prospective governor.

South Street Journal, in the same way that Jesse Jackson Sr. endorsed Bobby Rush and Roland Burris; here's an endorsement of principles. However, Blagojevich says he has a sincere passion for the issues in Black community.

Grand Blvd, Bronzeville—Bobbie Johnson, 3rd Ward Republican Committeeman supported by a city-wide coalition charged an immediate Reality versus Political Immediacy addressing the Michigan Boulevard Garden Apartments, commonly known as the Rosenwald Building.

City officials are now threatening the Rosenwald Building with demolition that sparked a Press Conference & Rally Thursday, October 31, 12 noon, on the corner of 47th & Michigan Avenue.

Supporting the total rehab of the building, present at the press/rally will be Dr. Peter Ascoli, grandson and biographer of Julius Rosenwald. Also expected to attend is decedents of Booker T. Washington opposing the demolition, keeping with the wishes of Julius Rosenwald and Booker T. Washington who were major developers of the building. The building located on the 47th Street redevelopment strip is listed on the National Registry for Historic Places. Historicists said it is the last vestige that links us to our historical past from slavery to present day.

The immediate reality is that in April 2000 when CHAC started the proceedings to vacant the property the 451-unit building was occupied by mostly Section 8 and displaced Robert Taylor Homes residents.

Alone with many community representation, the rally is unfolding as a political fight with unannounced mayoral candidate Paul Jakes, alone with 3rd ward candidates Kenny

(Chicago) – Prospective candidate Paul Jakes had high spirit in his message when addressed the "Stop the War" rally in Chicago loop. He carried on the spirit as he accepted the backing of the Accountability Committee (TAC). The momentum was boosted again with the Chicago Defender editorial the position that Jakes can win. "But only if we get behind him."

However, the closest Jakes will official announce his candidacy will come on Friday, November 1, at Bethel AME Church 4448 S. Michigan Ave. at 6:30 pm, where an Exploratory Committee will start the process to gain the momentum of Clergy, Business and Community Support.

Impatient, some members of the community are waiting for Jakes to make the official announcement. Including members of TAC.

"That announcement will be in line with an action plan for new voters, the money and leaders to stand tall, and the resources of TV, radio, polling, and focus groups to give the voters a full picture of the

Speaking before the Task Force for Black Political Empowerment, Jakes said. "This is not about me. This is a calling and a draft. I will be an instrument to carry this movement forward."

Farrakhan: on D.C. sniper Former member violates Islamic teachings

"It is horrific for us to learn that someone who once was a part of our ranks may be involved in something as horrific as this," said the Honorable Minister Louis Farrakhan.

Maryland officials on Oct. 25 charged John Allen Williams, also known as John Muhammad, 41, and teen John Lee Malvo with six counts of first-degree murder in the shootings. A third man, reportedly co-owner of a blue Chevrolet Caprice the pair was caught in, was arrested as a material witness Oct. 26.

Farrakhan said the accused deadly D.C.-area sniper has had no link with the Nation of Islam for over three years and anyone

"I and we grieve for the senseless loss of life and with all the families that lost loved. But we also grieve for Williams, also known as John Muhammad's, first wife and his son and his second wife and their three children, who will have to grow up and live with whatever comes from the trial of these two persons.

Chicago Head Start Program gives Moms as well as Kids a head start in life

Chicago has 2,374 Head Start slots; currently many of those slots remain unfilled. While the Head Start program is of vital importance, many caregivers do not know that the Head Start program exists or fully understand the broad-range of its services. Head Start programs nationwide have served close to 18 million children and families since its inception in 1965. or the The Head Start program has helped improve the lives of tens of thousands of Chicago children and their parents who live below the poverty level.

Children who participate in early learning experiences such as Head Start out-perform other students, their I.Q.'s are five times higher, and they are two years ahead in reading and 1.5 years ahead in math. Thirty-five percent of these students went on to attend college, which was 2.5 times the rate of their peers without the aid of early childhood education services (Abecedarian Project statistics).

In addition, the children showed improvement in pre-reading skills such as letter recognition, expanded work knowledge, phonemic awareness, knowledge and significant gains in social skills (Head Start Family and Child Experiences Survey [FACES] results).

In conjunction with Head Start, the City of Chicago also provides family literacy and career planning programs to enable mothers to contribute more to their children's development, as well as realize a better life for their families. Parents are offered GED tutoring, computer training, English as a Second Language courses, vocational training, etc. In exchange for their living allowance, parents who do extremely well in the program are recruited as mentors and as volunteers in Head Start and other child care facilities.

Various Head Start Programs still have openings. These include neighborhoods such as: Englewood, West Englewood, East Garfield Park, West Garfield Park, Lower West Side, Humboldt Park, Greater Grand Crossing, Austin, North Lawndale, South Lawndale, Logan Square, Uptown and New City. Those interested in enrolling in the Head Start program should call 1 (800) 239-9957.

Read made the announcement of the meeting on WVON Radio for community support to secure a fair representation of Black contractors.

Sources close to the project informed SSJ that minority representation is met by the affirmative action goals of 25%. Agencies officially representing Black and other minority groups' as part of the Over Sight committee are the Target Group, Chicago Urban League, and Black Contractors United.

However, Read stated. "Everything, not a white man is a minority. That does not address Black representation.

Joining in with Read is the newly formed Voice Of the ExOffenens, who have been addressing many construction issues around the city.

The Walgreen Company in conjunction with Congressman Danny K. Davis (D., 7th), announced plans to donate one million reading eyeglasses to several African countries to help reduce the burden of illiteracy and poor vision in Africa.

During a press conference Walgreens drugstore at Laramie and Madison presented sample of the eyeglasses to Governor Bola Ahmed Tinubu of Lagos State, Nigeria. The country will receive about 400,000 eyeglasses. The other countries to receive eyeglasses are Ghana, Cameroon, Uganda, Senegal, Zimbabwe and Tanzania.

Cong. Davis' African Affairs and Health Task Forces have identified seven African countries to receive varying numbers of eyeglasses.

Walgreen Co. will facilitate the shipping of the eyeglasses from its warehouse in Illinois to eastern U.S. ports.

William Davis, (Front Row, Right) spokesman for Coalition to Save The Met, stands with Jonnie Richardson, wife of Rev. Theodore Richardson, retired pastor of Metropolitan Community Church for 40 years, announces a filing of a lawsuit to prevent the systematic dismantling and demolition of the landmark church.

Fight to Save Historic Church moves from Community Streets to Court

Grand Blvd.—The Coalition to Save the Met filed a lawsuit in Cook County Circuit Court against Rev. Leon Perry III, trustees of the Church and other parties to prevent demolition of the historic 113-year-old facility. This is the latest chapter in a battle to save one of Chicago's most significant historic structures.

On October 24, 2002, Preservation Chicago, a prominent architectural advocacy group, ranked Metropolitan Community Church as number three on its list of Chicago's Seven Most Threatened Buildings.

William Davis, spokesman for the Coalition, stood outside the shuttered Metropolitan Community Church holding the hand of Johnnie Richardson, the eighty-year-old wife of Rev. Theodore Richardson, retired pastor of the Metropolitan congregation for 40 years, and declared that the community would not allow the church to be demolished. "This is a community effort," Davis said. "We are not going to stand by and watch another one of our important historical landmarks disappear. The decision to tear down this structure was made capriciously. That decision will not stand."

"My grandfather first joined this church in 1930," Richardson said. "Five generations of my family have been members here and I am still a member in good standing to this day. This building was built 113 years ago. It has stone exterior walls that are six to eight inches thick. It was built to last a thousand years. So, at one hundred thirteen, this is still a new building with plenty of life

Chicago Elections Bd. Reverses Position,

Defends 25,000 Signature requirement to thwart Challengers to Richard Daley

In a national comparison, Chicago

Mayoral candidates in:

New York,	7,500
Boston,	3,000
Los Angeles	1,000
Illinois statewide offices,	5,000

Before the General Assembly changed the law in 1995 Chicago Mayoral candidates 2,261.

In a startling reversal of its position, the Chicago Board of Elections has with to court to defend its 25,000-signature requirement for citywide candidates' nominating petitions. The Board's Chairman Langdon Neal said earlier the requirement is "excessive" and should be reduced," and spokesman Tom Leach said, "We've had conversations about [people] filing a lawsuit against the Board and taking a neutral position." But now, the Board is defending what The Accountability Committee (TAC) calls an unfair policy.

The Board filed a defense brief in U.S. District Court before Judge Charles R. Norgle in response to a lawsuit filed by Chicago citizens who are candidates for citywide office in 2003. Their lawsuit alleges that the 25,000-requirement unduly bars their participation in the electoral process and is therefore unconstitutional.

TAC, a citywide coalition of citizens and businesses seeking to energize Chicago's February 2003 election, supports the lawsuit. Aldermen William Beavers and Ed Smith, Rainbow/PUSH, League of Women Voters, Chicago Southside NAACP, The Chicago Defender, Chicago Sun-Times, Chicago Tribune, South Street Journal and Daily South Town, and other organizations have also called for reforming the signature requirement.

"We are shocked but not surprised by the Board's reversal," says Bruce Crosby, TAC Co-Convener. "The Board's Commissioners are appointed by the Cook County Democratic Party, and Mike Madigan and the Democrats in the Illinois General Assembly changed Chicago's election law to make it more difficult for candidates, independents, and new parties."

"The Party that likely stole the 1960 Presidential election is at it again - - trying to steal Chicago for Richard Daley."

In a national comparison of Chicago; Mayoral candidates in New York, Boston, and Los Angeles need only 7,500, 3,000, and 1,000 signatures respectively. For Illinois statewide offices such as Governor and U.S. Senator, the requirement is 5,000. And in 1995, prior to the General Assembly's changes, the requirement for Chicago citywide candidates was only 2,261.

TAC is calling on the Board of Elections to abandon its defense of the lawsuit to lower the signature requirement. TAC is also calling on Richard Daley, City Clerk James Laski, and City Treasurer Judith Rice to support the reforms.

Mayor Daley press office did not return calls to state his position on Chicago's relatively new election law: Nor has he made comments in support or oppose the 25,000-signature requirement for citywide candidates'.

"As Chicago's chief elected official, Mr. Daley should have an opinion on this issue," says Crosby, "Does he support the Board's requirement that candidates must gather 25,000 signatures? Does he think this is fair? Candidate-access to the ballot is central to our democracy, and Chicagoans deserve to know Mr. Daley's stance on this issue." Ideally, Mr. Daley will join the chorus of voices that is calling for reform. To prepare for upcoming court proceedings, TAC is lining up local and national voter rights advocates, and Mr. Daley is encouraged to testify as well, in support of a lower signature requirement.

The City officials in collaboration with the Chicago Housing Authority inspected the building and found it not livable. With the threat to the public health and a hazard tenants of the building was vacated in 2000 within three months. It alarmed community residents with a questionable intent as a land grab. However, the building had years of deterioration and drugs distribution activity. One of the business tenants, Finer Foods, is in the process of suing for false inspections of the building; forcing him out of business.

Theresa Hoy, a former tenant of the building said she is pleased with her new apartment and away from the menace activity. "But what choice did they give us. When the building is not kept up surely a person would want to move. It was a shame the way the moved people out so cruel.

The Landmark Preservation Council of Illinois put the Rosenwald on a list of the 10 most endangered historic structures in the state. And the National Trust for Historic Preservation intent to use their resources to save the Rosenwald building according to Johnson.

Richard Moe, President of the National Trust announced a new initiative which is being kick off called "Work Force Housing. This initiative will institute the development of affordable housing stock for the working poor using the Historic Tax Credit and the Low Income Tax Credit. HOPE VI, HUD's Neighborhood Networks initiative, TIF and other resources to leverage funding for the re-development of the historical landmark.

Noted philanthropist Julius Rosenwald, at the urging of Booker T. Washington, built the building in 1929. Designed by Adler Planetarium architect Ernest Grunsfeld, the building was erected to meet the demand for housing Chicago's then growing Black middle class.

One of the first tenants, Mrs. Howard, 97, a former resident of the building says; "They were spending too much money trying to house working black folks who came from down south so they built this building."

"My husband was a Pullman Porter, he and the other men in the building pool their monies together and started the Illinois Service Federal Credit Union right here in the building."

That historical credit union is now Illinois Service Federal Bank, a black bank still residing in the Bronzeville community.

Johnson said. "With $1.6 billion in federal money and an open-ended commitment from Mayor Daley, we would like to use some of these dollars to refurbish the Michigan Boulevard Garden Apartments.

There is no report cost factors to restore the building. But, Pat Dowell former Mid-South Planning Executive Director and candidate for 3rd ward alderman took the position that a cost to rehab the building must be done before any demolition.

Jakes

billed for aldermanic candidates and the public.

"Some of us haven't been in the same room together in years," Jakes explained. "But today, is the day we are moving forward."

However, no public official has endorsed Jakes' potential run.

"That's expected." Said Cleveland Little, a community and political activist. "One person that can get the most Black leaders together today is Mayor Daley. As Thomas "TNT" Todd says it: 'they are not selling us out, they are giving us away'."

With the lack of black elected officials, Atty. Anderson says. "We are going to fight this. The issues and the future are too high not to. And we call on all those who stand for right to join us as they always ask us to join them during their election."

Bruce Crosby co-convenor of TAC and a member of Jakes exploratory committee said. "Jakes has the consensus of our community in his leadership. His actions have always spoken louder than his words. Moreover, in this instance upon announcing he again is standing when many would not."

Jakes is most noted for his activism on police matters. However, he has a political and government back ground ranging from 1981 as a civil rights leader with then Operation PUSH, District manager under former Cong. Gus Savage, and worked for city government. "Frankly, the people of Chicago both Black and White, will remember what he has done in all those areas," Said Crosby.

Other candidates in the race are Rafael Chagin, Rev. Joseph McAfee, Pat McAllister, and Rev. Robert Floyd Plump.

However, source Black candidate is to the November 5, general election. The source also indicates that person would be a front to divide the Black community.

Reports are Mayor Daley has conducted a poll of prospected black candidates that could give him a challenge. "Jakes was not on his list." Said the source. "This time he (Daley) is not going to know where we are coming from."

Wallace "Gator" Bradley who ran against Alderman Dorothy

Tillman

Bradley

Baskin

Mosley-Braun

Tillman three times said earlier he now supports Ald. Dorothy Tillman reelection. But informed SSJ he will reconsider his support challenging the candidates to address the lack of black construction workers doing city projects in the third ward. Candidate Pat Dowell who campaigned on 47th street stated she welcome Bradley to open his eyes to understand, Tillman is not an issue in the campaign. "Her term is up. The community has basically declared that already. It is a matter of who Bradley and the other members will chose to support as the new alderman." She added "His challenge is more of an reinforcement like other voters of the ward.,."

Other candidates in the race is former candidate Dorothy Oliver of Stateway Gardens and Kenny Sawyer.

Baskin Blast Coleman on Daley Support

Hal Baskin a third time candidate for alderman of the 16th ward launched out on Ald. Shirley Coleman on her support for Mayor Richard Daley. "This is why the 16th ward needs a Representative that understand the problems people face in this ward."

"When elected the only debt I have to repay, is to the people that voted me in office. Not the Mayor. We have the strength, independence, intelligence, and integrity to do the right thing by the people and for the people. Coleman has not went through a process to make a discussion like that."

Baskin a member of The Accountability Committee, who started the process for replacing Daley said. "We will not cut deals to keep us in office at the expense of our people."

Coleman made her statement in the Chicago Defender early October, supporting Mayor Daley's work in the 16th Ward.

Mosley-Braun May Run for Office, Even President

Former U. S. Sen. Carol Mosley-Braun, has not ruled out running for Mayor, reported the National Newspaper Publishers Assoc., including the Democratic nomination for president in 2004. Mosley Braun stated supporters are encouraging her to advance to public office again and the suggestions range from running for re-election to the United States Senate in '04 to running for president of the United States in '04," Mosley-Braun tells NNPA.

However, raising funds for the office of US Senate is State Senator Barka Obama.

Black Leadership Summit Nov. 16 to follow Atlanta Cong. McKinney address to Chicago

Ujima Political Action Committee and Kennedy King Student Government will host Atlanta Congresswoman Cynthia McKinney to Chicago. She will be discussing her recent defeat at the hands of what many say groups outside the Black community and what it means for the future of Black independent politics. The event will take place on Saturday, November 9, 1:00—5:30 pm at Kennedy King College, International Room 6800 S. Wentworth. Admission is Free.

However, with the aftermath of McKinney speaking to Chicago, progressive political activist and the public at large will gather again for a Black Political Leadership Summit to take place the following Saturday, November 16, 4:00 pm to 7:00 pm, at the Centers for Inner City Studies, 700 East Oakenwald.

The Summit is a call to action addressing the February 2003 election according to Randy Evans, member of the Ujima Political Action Committee, who called the summit, along with Ron Carter, publisher of SSJ called the meeting as a quick follow-up to the expected road map that McKinney will outline for Chicago to avoid.

As in the sixties and seventies, black aldermen was identified as the "Silent 6." Black aldermen then under the late Mayor Richard J. Daley is a reflection to the present aldermen now amounts into a full-scale crisis for the Black Chicago independence to address direct issues facing the community.

"Where art thou Black Leadership?" an article by Stephanie (Gadlin) Shakur ask, "What the city is doing to poor residents is indefensible and inexcusable--and with further examination it may even be illegal.

She went on to report, more egregious wrong, is how Chicago's civil rights, religious, political and quasi-militant leadership has been silent.

"Even the Chicago Urban League, which sits a stone's throw away from Robert Taylor Homes with its $7 million budget and superior research and lobbying skills, offers nothing. The NAACP? Forget about it."

She continued to point out despite the obvious civil and human rights violations, not even the Rainbow/PUSH Coalition, Nation of Islam, or National Black United Front--all headquartered in Chicago--has taken up the plight. "And let's not talk about the body of churches--preachers with ten and twenty thousand people congregations."

Evans said, "We need solutions. We know there is a need to call for action. For those of us who know, there's a movement waiting and there is room for all of us on the frontline. This is the focus of this Black Leadership Summit."

"If we don't act now, our problem may be worse than the issue of Atlanta," Evans said.

"No one can argue that something needs to be done to change how our leadership functions in this city. But what amazes many is how complacent the overall populace has become," Evans pointed out.

Political activist, Richard Burnett adds that the voters at times are a reflection of the leadership. Of the 22 Black aldermen, Daley appointed 12. Which for the most part are loyal to him before the voters of the ward.

Off the record, one alderman staffer pointed out that. "Those appointed to Daley will never be progressive. The issue is right only if the check is right."

Black elected officials know it has a problem on its hands. State Rep. Connie Howard pointed out it is a matter of finance as well. "The one who pays for the campaign chest normally controls the candidate and has the clout with the official."

"The Black community must start putting money in their candidates with their votes."

At one point during last November, the Black Caucus had a light of a united front regarding their wards-remap. In response, it beefed up its public image during the ward remap with political consultant Demarie Cobb.

Dr. Conrad Worrell stated that it was the long over due leadership the community has been waiting for from Black aldermen." However, after the ward remap was over the united front filled aside.

The goals of Summit are to address leadership over the next 3 months. The Summit is to address the 22 blacks wards in Chicago with approximately 800,000 Black voters in Chicago.

What has happened is because too many Black people do not see a relationship between their vote and any change in their lives; the process has turned off a lot of people. However, on the other hand, if we do not vote, we yield the field to the other side. We yield the field particularly to the Right-wing conservative.

Carter said, "With Black voters it is not a matter of providing the margins of victory for elections in Chicago. Blacks are the deciding factor. That's all to it."

Parking Tickets

I went to the store the other day. I was only in there for about 5 minutes, and when I came out there was a damn motorcycle cop writing a parking ticket.

So I went up to him and said, "Come on, buddy, how about giving a guy a break?" He ignored me and continued writing the ticket.

So I called him a pencil-necked nazi. He glared at me and started writing another ticket for having bald tires!

So I called him a piece of horse shit. He finished the second ticket and put it on the car with the first... then started writing a third ticket!

This went on for about 20 minutes. The more I abused him, the more tickets he wrote.

I didn't give a damn--my car was parked around the corner.

The City of Chicago have collected more than $4 million in overdue ticket revenue has been paid since Sept. 3, 2002.

"I feel especially bound to devote my energies to the freedom and elevation of my people. For the accomplishment of this object, I know of no instrumentality more effective than the press."

City Budget

With a $116 million deficit for 2003, the City of Chicago's $4.7 Billion budget includes: $195 Million GO Bond for Public Works, Continuation of the Annual $200 Million "Neighborhood Alive 21" Construction Fund for new Police and Fire stations, a layoff of 200 city workers, and a possible tax levy increase to shore-up its five (5) municipal pension funds.

The Neighborhood Capital Budget Group (NCBG) in collaboration with its Community Capital Campaign (CCC), a consortium of community groups for accountability over capital spending and more public investment in neighborhoods will be assisting groups to testify at the City's 2003 Budget Hearing. The public hearing will be held, Wednesday, November 6, 2003, 12 noon (following the City Council Meeting), City Hall - 2nd Floor Chamber.

"With over $400 million in unspent Tax Increment Financing (TIF) dollars deposited within 121 TIF district accounts, the City is betting you "close your eyes" to this shell game." John Paul Jones of the NCBG said. "People should use this opportunity to testify before the City Council on what they expect from government for services, programs and funding priorities."

The CCC sees the TIF funds as City hall's own "Shadow Budget" by its failure to provide details on how they plan to spend the funds.

The way the budget is "Streamline" millions in TIF funds can have little regard to communities official "redevelopment plan".

"It is important citizens review the budget with their Alderman to ensure parity in spending and greater public investment in their neighborhood"

For information and/or fact sheets on the Budget, contact John Paul Jones or Helene at NCBG at (312) 939.7198.

Farrakhan: on D.C. sniper

And this is not the John that we knew. What happened to him, what caused this remains at present to me and to us a mystery. It's something that must be probed and it must be found. What turns a person into a cold killer of innocent people?" he asked.

One of the victims, Ken

Bridges, was a Black empowerment activist and longtime friend and associate of Min. Farrakhan.

The accused sniper was in bad standing with the Nation over a child custody dispute with his second wife, who attends a D.C.-area mosque, Min. Farrakhan said. He had not been heard from since 1999, the Minister said.

"We would all ask that any who is guilty of such be punished to the fullest extent of the law," Min. Farrakhan added. Under the Nation's teachings, members are not allowed to possess any weapon, Min. Farrakhan explained.

"But, I respectfully say, to the members of the media and the American people, Timothy McVeigh confessed that he was a Christian, but nobody blames the church for his misconduct," he observed. Mr. McVeigh was found guilty of the April 1995 Oklahoma City Federal Building bombing. Likewise, the pastors of those imprisoned are not linked to their crimes, but there is a bias that allows for Islam to be wrongly attached to crimes, he said Muslims already suffer from a stigma and pain of Sept. 11.

Mr. Williams first attended a study group in northern Cal and later a small study group

In 1996, at the annual Saviours Day convention, all of the believers present were given the right to wear the name Muhammad, as a sign of religious ties to Nation of Islam patriarch Elijah Muhammad. The name Muhammad means, "one worthy of praise, and one praised much," he said.

The accused sniper's wife at the time was at the convention. He later legally changed his name to Muhammad in the courts, the Minister said.

By Beverly A. Reed
Columnist for the Chicago Defender

I was going to tell you about a crime scene I saw today but I've seen so many I don't know where to begin. My mind is reeling from the bloodlust. Everywhere I look there is nothing but violence and pain. I think someone was killed near my house but I don't know. I just saw shattered glass, shivering cops and people looking. I kept going.

I came home and there was Mr. Muhammed's face plastered all over the television. The media never says we cannot make sense of what makes no sense so we will just show footage of Dr. King or Ghandi or President Ikeda or Mother Theresa or anybody who does not have a rifle or an ink pen to sign a check to buy more might. No we have to see where he slept or what he ate or watch while they harass the hell out of his poor ex-wives or whomever else they can get their hands on.

Now we have Black John and White John both Americans and both accused of terrorist acts what the Sam Hill is happening. Maybe violence is not the answer. Everybody has a reason. The people who barged into a Russian theatre with bombs strapped to their bodies last night have a reason. The young men who hold it down out here have a reason. George Bush has a reason.

But I don't have a reason what I have is two sons and three daughters and I want to live in a world that is not hell bent on destroying itself and whatever it takes to make that happen. Is what I am interested in hearing about and reading about and seeing outside.

Am I rambling? Too bad. Sometimes we get so caught up in the correct this and that we just forget to just stand up and tell the truth. I am frightened. But I am willing to do my part to get the good and the bad guys to just... Stop killing people.

No way to end terrorism Cointelpro Specter, Haunts of Black America

In what may be the beginning of a Third War World, as the events unfold, the United Nations kicked off a world wide online petition drive starting from France in an effort to avoid a tragic war.

As the U.S. has backed off bin Linden and drive attacks on Saudi Hasun, the Judicial Watch, a public interest group that investigates and prosecutes government corruption and abuse, said that the Bush administration is continuing a practice of providing the American public with false and misleading information concerning Islamic terror plans and attacks against the United States. They point out the after effects of 911 is still in the mist of the citizens rights in the mist of President Bush's Homeland Security Plan.

Bush in his address to the nation said that the Homeland Security Plan "will give our government resources in a way that is thorough and unified." The Department of Homeland Security is the largest reorganization of the federal government since the 1940's.

Judicial Watch reports, "Given their (Bush Administration) poor track record leading up to September 11, the FBI and Justice Department have regrettably established a pattern, for obvious political purposes, of withholding or not providing accurate information to the American public in order to deceive the public of further acts on U.S. soil." They charged the FBI and its Justice Department with fraudulent practice that must cease.

National Secretary of the Black Radical Congress, Frances M. Beal bears with caution the 911 and citizens plight with the Homeland Security as a reflection of the civil rights and the anti-war movements of the past. He makes notes to the Cointelpro Specter, a haunts of Black America.

"Clearly, if the rest of the nation has amnesia on FBI history, Black America does not," says Beal. "A person who lived through the civil rights battles of the 60s and 70s cannot help but see the revitalized of Cointelpro, the counter-intelligence policy carried out by the FBI

Beal points out from the mass people's movements of the 1960s and 1970s pressure brought to bear on the government that eventually led to adopting new guidelines, purportedly designed to curb FBI abuse of people's rights. "And today history still is written for activist who marched on the FBI and Justice department against President Bush, saying no to the FBI attacks on civil rights and liberties charging there was no vote in Congress. No public referendum. Nor there was no judicial review."

Speaking earlier this year, Judicial Watch Chairman and General Counsel Larry Klayman said. "Our FBI Director and Attorney General, who have proven that they have a hard time telling the truth to the American people, and should be fired or forced to resign."

The Judicial Watch reports what is new is that the FBI is overtly shifting from focusing on criminal investigations into focusing on counter-intelligence programs - a code word for an attack on dissent and on political and religious organizations

The Home Land Security is viewed by many as the FBI being unleashed on people targeted by the Bush administration. Targeted because of determined political or religious views or affiliations warrant surveillance, infiltration, and disruption of their personal lives or the organizations to which they belong.

Klayman added, the current Washington scandal is not about what the FBI or the CIA knew - which apparently is plenty - but the fact that the FBI and other security agencies refused to act on information because of political interference from higher ups rooted in the political and economic ties of the bin Lindens to the Bush family.

Since 9-11, thousands of Muslim, Arab American, and South Asian people have been subjected to the violation of their civil rights and liberties. Charitable organizations have had their assets seized. Thousands have been illegally ng: It's like what Malcolm X would say, "You suffer peacefully."

ago, South Street wrote an editorial on Illinois Lottery predipoor and mostly Black before long approached Lottery black advertising. We were in-

be no advertising in until the newspaper position. Well SSJ has on, nor have the newspaper received an ad of any kind from that agency. A supporter of SSJ stated later committed to the low cash newspaper.

"When I win the lottery I am going to give some of the money to the newspaper." The supporter remarks were the reflection of Alderman V. Lyle interviewed

The game has been a set up from the start. As many people like gambling "Like Mike" and Auntie Eda (Who normally wins). Some people just have plain old common sense and good luck. However, the majority are just plain old foolish gamblers like Mike, without the money to blow.

Chicago and Illinois should join both governor candidates against gambling in Chicago. The state and the city need real economic growth not a chance of people making the wrong discussions. It is morally wrong.

For poor people and those praying to get a piece of the American dream such as Chicago Black community, a taste of the results of casino gambling in Chicago is an example of the State Lottery.

Here's are a sample of the facts on Gambling according to Clarence Terry's: Illinois State Lottery revenues report. Englewood, Roseland, Auburn Gresham, in four Zip Codes: 60617, 60619, 60620, and 60628-- are the biggest spenders, totaling more than $80 Million in 2001, and 2002 nearly $84 Million since July. - There are 45 other zip codes, including Park — Forest, Matteson, and Dolton. Whose zip codes (60466, 60443, and 60419 make for combined lottery revenue of $9 Million in 2001, and $11 Million so far in 2002 fiscal year.

Predominantly African American or Latino, low-income Chicago communities have generated the highest lottery sales in the state, shows an analysis of Illinois Lottery records since 1997 reported the Chicago Reporter. In addition, residents in these communities spent a higher portion of their incomes on the lottery than people in more affluent areas. In addition, despite the state's recent economic downturn, lottery spending has increased; the reporter found number-bases games of chance have a history in poor, black communities.

Illinois proposed a statewide numbers game in 1972 as a way to fund schools. Yet, the school system in Chicago still has a cloud of neglect. If the city is in a state of depending on its citizens misfortunate loses for economic development like it is done to parking tickets then the Mayor and the poll survey conducted is a low down cheap conspiracy, with the citizens suffering peacefully.

But to the wise, as the Jewish Council on Urban Affairs stated, it would be Mayor Daley's gamble in 2003 election, and SSJ's gamble on future ads from the city.

Endorsement

Blagovick and most democratic candidates received an overwhelming endorsement with support of a collaboration of established community/political leaders.

Democrat 99% precincts reporting
Blagojevich	451,633	37%
Vallas	426,099	34%
Burris	357,520	29%
Republican 99% precincts reporting
Ryan	400,481	45%
O'Malley	255,401	28%
Wood	240,572	27%

They have put out non-stop campaigning for the ticket with no real challengers to the ticket.

We give most democrats another stab at the community. Blagojevich admitted, Roland Burris lost the election because of the color of his skin. From the results of the primary, lets see what happens with Roland's votes November 5th.

Shaw - Meeks Race

The progressive voters in the 15th Senatorial race got a choice on Nov. 5th. Like children looking at playground fight between Democratic incumbent William Shaw and Rev. James Meeks.

Two Black leaders fighting over a political agenda for the most part the voters are not aware of. Meeks reportedly has a campaign budget of $300,000. Shaw on the other hand has the politically conservators of black officials along with renegade political activist supporting him to stop the political stronghold Meeks would gain with Congressman Jesse Jackson Jr. In that at one political forum they were almost physically fighting. The verbal political battle that is raging resulted with SSJ being handed questionable personal background on Meeks. It was very distasteful. If true raise the political and spiritual leadership of Meeks as the next in line to take over RainbowPUSH.

Their campaign is far form a kid game. The sad part is the disunity they did not have enough rational to publicly to say the admitted to sit down and discuss their difference. Leaving voters stranded in the middle.

Even with Meeks radio commercials are questionable to low down political leadership oppose to a man of God and honesty with ones fellow man. Both are portraying themselves as the wrong candidate with rhetoric rather than a political agenda for the people. That's what is running under a political party is all about.

Shaw is challenging his whims of the senate, which he consider exceptionally risky. Pointing out what is at stake is control of both the House and the Senate. But if Meeks do will, he would for the most part support the existing legislative agenda of the Illinois Black Caucus.

The Republican Party has appointed it's candidate with the chance that the White Demarcates in the south suburbs would skip over to vote for the republican, as it was done in Chicago during the Harold Washington election according to a leading State Senator.

The voters of the 15th District have a mission for the generations to come to embrace not only community and economic empowerment, but political development as well. They will decide a political leader hopefully that will rebuild unity and political empowerment. This race should be about that.

Or like the playground fight, its just another day.

benefited from slavery, then that company and its shareholders were unjustly enriched. That is a debt that must be repaid no matter how long ago it was incurred. A more proper response to this issue would be for the City Council to have enacted an ordinance with some teeth, holding some consequence for violators and requiring some meaningful gesture from corporate slave profiteers. Isn't that the point of reparations, to repair or make amends for wrongs or injuries done? This was the case with the Japanese during World War II and the Jewish survivors of the Holocaust.

But what should we have expected from an ordinance pushed by Tillman other than symbolism without substance. It is the hallmark of her tenure in the City Council, living off the legacies of Harold Washington and Rev. Martin Luther King while paying lip service to voters in the most underserved Ward in Chicago. Let's hope this doesn't distract 3rd Ward voters from the more substantive issues that affect us everyday—such as education, jobs, economic development, affordable housing and crime.

It's Funny.

How we set our clocks to arise at 4:00 a.m. or 5:00 a.m. to be at the job by 8:00 a.m., yet when Sabbath comes, we can't get to church by 11:00 a.m. to praise the one who gave us the jobs!

Funny how we call God our Father and Jesus our brother, but find it hard to introduce them to our family.

Funny how small our sins seem, but how big "their" sins are.

Funny how we demand justice for others, but expect mercy from God.

Funny how much difficulty some have learning the gospel well enough to tell others, But how simple it is to understand and explain the latest gossip about someone else.

Funny how we can't think of anything to say when we pray, but don't have any difficulty thinking of things to talk about to a friend.

Funny how we are so quick to take directions from a total stranger when we are lost, but are hesitant to take God's direction for our lives.

Funny how so many church goers sing "Standing on the Promises" but all they do is sit on the premises.

Funny how people want God to answer their prayers, but refuse to listen to His counsel.

Funny how we sing about heaven, but live only for today.

Funny how people think they are going to Heaven but don't think there is a Hell.

Funny how it is okay to blame God for evil and suffering in the world, but it is not necessary to thank Him for what is good and pleasant.

Funny how when something goes wrong, we cry, "Lord, why me?" but when something goes right, we think, "Hey, it must be me!"

Oh wait ... maybe all this isn't so "funny" after all.

Coalition to Save Metropolitan Church

left in it. To tear a sound structure down, especially one with so much history and value, just to build one that's new just doesn't make sense."

The lawsuit filed names Reverend Leon Perry III as pastor of the church; the church itself; its board of trustees, Mark Collins, Gary Brooks, Yvonne Bryant, Maxine Brown, Renardo Johnson, Susan Dugan, Brian Graham, Karen Hansberry, Eugene Mandeville, Chandra Nicks, A. Doris Reynolds, James Stewart and Lisa Whaley; Adkins Architectural Antiques of Houston, Texas; and Rutz Organ Company of Morristown, Minnesota. The suit alleges the Metropolitan defendants have proceeded without authority to demolish the church, mortgage the congregation's real property and waste millions of dollars of the congregation's money to build a new church on the same site, and seeks a cause of action for waste of the congregation's corporate assets.

"The Douglas-Grand Boulevard community is richer in history than any other community in Chicago. Yet, too much of our architectural legacy has been allowed to disappear. This community is standing together today to say hold, enough. We are not going to sit and watch as another piece of our history falls by the wayside because of whimsy and shortsightedness," said Linda Slaughter, Chairman of the Coalition to Save The Met.

The controversy started in August 2001, when Rev. Leon Perry III announced plans to demolish the church and build a new one in its place. Shortly thereafter, the congregation was vacated from the church building and began holding services at Wendell Phillips High School.

In August 2002, Adkins Architectural Antiques, of Houston, Texas began removing the stained-glass windows from the church, prompting a demonstration by community residents and current and former members of the congregation. An emergency stop-work order was issued by the City of Chicago on August 28, 2002 to prevent the continued removal of the stained-glass windows, which was being carried out without a permit.

Plaintiffs further allege that Rev. Perry or other Metropolitan defendants have entered into an agreement with Rutz Organ Company to sell the congregation's Skinner pipe organ, a rare and extremely valuable instrument built in 1923 by noted American organ builder Ernest M. Skinner, containing 2,573 pipes and integral to the design and appearance of the church.

Be 4 Reel

By Lillie Robinson

Me, Marry You
 When did you decide you're worthy to be someones bride
 Not just a place to hide or put my thingthing inside
 But to hold you up with pride
 Let's put all that aside
 When I met you at the club, 1st night we rub-a-dubbed
 We did it in the car, kitcher even the tub
 Within tow nights you were in love
 Now I want you to listen
 None of these words I want you missing
 You're easy, a little too sleazy
 Only a true Queen can please me
 Not give it up but tease me
 Beautiful body, nice behind—smart educated

Art by Jabbar

All combined

A woman I'd proud to call mine
 We're talking long term, my life time
 Nah, don't cry like your feelings hurt & whine
 Think about it, are you worthy of my time
 I'm afraid to introduce you to my friends
 Many times around the block you're been
 So I tell you what, before you mess things up
 Let's not talk marriage, I ain't wantin' the baby carriage
 Just let me continue to come to your mama house.
 Late nite sneaking like a mouse
 Hit it in the hallway, watching the roaches crawl away
 Call you on the phone, only to get it on Nothing knew-about a booty call
 Everyone knows that, don't yah?
 But on the real, Lets make a lil' deal
 I'll keep coming and you keep giving up

The Nommo Gathering Black Writers Collective, in conjunction with Kennedy King College Theatricals, presents this hilarious African-American sketch comedy revue. Written by award-winning comedy writers Donna Beasley, Veronica P. Bohanan, Stephanie Gadlin, Toure Muhammad and Charles Willet, Jr., "Just Say NOMMO" operates in the tradition of popular televised sketch comedy productions such as "Saturday Night Live," "Mad TV" or "The Way We Do It." In addition to taking on popular African-American stereotypes such as docile slaves, Aunt Jemima and Uncle Ben, the production lampoons everything from the President George Bush to the controversy surrounding the "Barbershop" film. The multitalented cast includes Maya Anderson, Kevin Brennan, Lanre Idewu, Lucricia Johnson, Patricia Johnson, Tracy Jones, Joan Merlo, Pip, Julie Sims, Michele Steele, Brad Stevens and Joe Yates. The production is directed by Sheldon P. Lane; music is provided by Charles Ware. Tickets are $10. (Group rates available). For info and tickets, call 773-602-5536.

The Historic Sutherland

Kenwood— On the corner of 47th and Drexel, they said it couldn't be done. Entertainment is steady coming back to 47th Street. That the once vibrant jazz scene on 47th Street would never happen again. The Sutherland Lounge was at the center of this cultural/economic activity presenting the practitioners of a new form of jazz called Bebop in an elegant setting.

However in the 70's, so called urban renewal, diminished city services, poverty and drugs turned the once vital 47th Street corridor into a waste land. However due to the efforts of a small band of arts activist called the Sutherland Community Arts Initiative (SCAI) the project was born after it was forced to close its doors in for code violations..

Over the course of time with internal problems, even with law suits among members of the association, the project is still moving forward with a colabtra-tion of Ald. Toni Preckwinkle, (4), Sutherland Tenants Council and Century Place Development Corporation (CPDC who owns the property) with an awarded $763,000 in Empowerment Zone (EZ) funds for the Sutherland project. Congressman Bobby L. Rush is reportedly raised an additional $150,000 in EZ funds bringing over $913,000 in funds according a representative of SCAI. Reports are a grant of $10,000 from the Illinois First Fund sponsored by State Senator Donne E. Trotter, to be used to support general operating expenses.

May 2003 is the schedule opening date for the Sutherland to host some of the finest jazz ensembles in the world.

Over the September 8-10 weekend in 1995 nearly a 1000 jazz fans from 14 different states filled the club to hear the music of Africa Brass, Lester Bowie, Roscoe Mitchell and Dewey Redman. Sadly,

BAD COMPANY

(★★) Anthony Hopkins and Chris Rock team up in this espionage action comedy offers nothing new or better that we haven't seen before in other "buddy" movies. Chris Rock plays the street hustler who learns too late of a deceased twin brother spy working on an international mission. Rock has nine days to become his master spy brother to help Anthony Hopkins foil a plot to obtain a suitcase-size nuclear bomb from falling into terrorist hands.

R; 117 min. Available: Nov. 12

THE SUM OF ALL FEARS

(★★★) Ben Affleck delivers a favorable performance taking over the role of CIA agent. Jack Ryan first introduced by Alec Baldwin and perfected by Harrison Ford. In this timely Tom Clancy novel pre-quel, Ryan is a young, idealistic rookie taken under the wings of presidential aide, Morgan Freeman. When the threat of a nuclear cold war exist between Russia and the U.S. Only Ryan believes terrorists are involved through a trio of missing scientists and a bomb in a plot to have the two rival super-powers destruct each other. An intricate, timely thriller.

R; 123 min.

ENOUGH

(★½) Jennifer Lopez stars as a waitress whose tricked into marriage to a guy (Bill Campbell) who always gets what he wants". When Lopez discovers he's been unfaithful, her confrontation with Campbell leaves to have becoming an abused wife who decides to "fight" back. An illogical thriller in which Lopez has to toughen up for her freedom through a final showdown against her tormentor. Truly, this film title fits and what a waste for the talent involved. PG-13; 98 min.

HELLRAISER: HELLSEEKER

(★½) Dean Cain (TV's "Lois & Clark") is the husband who can't find his wife after a car accident in the lake. Then he begins to see nightmarish images. It could only be Pinhead using another human victim to try to bring his demonic spirits to the living in this sixth horror installment.

R; 88 min.

THE HEROIC TRIO

(★★) Michelle (Yeoh) Kwan stars in this martial arts fantasy adventure in which a trio of super-hero-type heroines join forces to foil a baby kidnapping plot that is connect to finding a evil heir for world domination. "Crouching Tiger"-type aerial action isn't enough to make up for this contrived comic book adventure.

(Not Rated) 86 min.

THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE

(★★★) A witty romantic comedy set in Victorian England about role playing with Mira Sorvino as a lovely yet daring princess who goes against her instincts and deceptive actions by falling in love to her sworn enemy who happens to be the rightful heir to the throne.

PG-13; 111 min.

At the Flicks

Review and compiled by David Schultz

AUTO FOCUS (★★★)

Examines the life and death of actor Bob Crane (Greg Kinnear) who was a man of contradiction from his public persona. A handsome, ambitious L.A. radio disc jockey that had a taste of Hollywood stardom after co-starring as the next door neighbor on TV's "The Donna Reed Show" in the early 60's. Then his agent (Ron Liebman) hands him a TV pilot script to a new weekly series that would make him a star—"Hogan's Heroes".

But while there was a darker, deeper obsession with Crane that interfered with his public image. When he meets "girl crazy" Richard Dawson's hi tech buddy, John Carpenter (Willem Dafoe). This "habit" goes full-blown when Carpenter introduces Crane to the early stages of home video taping. After filming his TV series by day, Crane and Carpenter would pick up girls, engaging in sex orgies that were secretly filmed.

When "Hogan's Heroes" is cancelled after six years, Crane begins spending time with Carpenter. Which mostly benefits Carpenter to score with women off of Crane's reputation.

Crane never views his sexual obsession as being harmful. Even though Crane was quick to nix Carpenter's homosexual gesture. When one orgy video shows the hand on Crane's naked butt wasn't from one of the girls. Still, Crane viewed "his behavior" as being an "all American male".

Ultimately, Crane realizes too late, that he needs to clean his slate to restart his career. Trouble in this is "suggested" when Crane tells Carpenter they can still be friends, but only from a distance. Which doesn't sit well with Carpenter.

Eventually leading up to the actual motel murder of Bob Crane. The film points its criminal eye upon Carpenter as an act of jealous rage in Crane's unsolved murder. But speculative. This story is probably the closest to the "whole truth". Still, Director Paul Schrader gives a descent re-enactment of the El Hollywood Story"-type movie. Greg Kinnear's fascinating portrayal of Bob Crane is one of a sexual enigma who just wanted it all. He took to sex back then, like some people take to illegal drugs now. The same self destructive, out-of-control scenario with a tragic sad end. Rated: R;

THE RING

(★★★) Move over, Hannibal Lecter! "The Ring" is the scariest surprise of the season. This is an American version based on a 1998 Japanese horror movie about a videotape that kills any person seven days after viewing it. When a 16-yr. old happens to view this tape with her friends at a cabin resort. The grieving mother enlists her friend, Rachel Keller (Naomi Watts), a reporter whose young son, Noah (David Dorfman) was the teen girl's best friend who drew on paper a strange premonition of a girl in a grave a week before her death.

"The Ring" is more serious and unnerving because this movie's exploration has a deeper purpose. It deals with the transferable nature of hatred. As this videotape was created by an injured little girl who feels morally justified killing anyone and everyone that encounters her tape. Because of some tragic circumstances with her parents. At the same time, this movie underscores fears with fascination with television. But at its very core, "The Ring" is a rarity. A "curse" movie with high technology played as an intelligent and intriguing horror mystery. A gothic movie odyssey that mixes modern scientific methods with old fashion spookery that will make you scream and jump out of your mind.

THE CHAMELEON

(★★) Mob hit men are ordinary human being, too. The Chameleon, star actor Seymour Cassel delivers an understated performance as Richard Cavanaugh, a retiring businessman celebrating his 75th birthday with his grandchildren and friends. But secretly, Richard is a notorious and wily hired assassin with a past that comes back to disrupt the peaceful life of his golden years.

As a man is hired four individuals out to kill Richard for a favor for Richard's small town sheriff (Tom Dahlgren) whose deputy son, (Phil Wurtzel) who later stumble onto their two fathers' secret.

The movie is interesting but often pedestrian by a script and direction that tries to avoid cliché elements and stereotypical situations. It's a movie that carefully talks its way toward its climax. Only to ultimately fall prey to the predictable in the film's shootout finale that makes the movie fall flat on its intentions.

93 min. (Not Rated, but critic's self-imposed rating: R for mild violence, language)

MATAH: IT'S ABOUT LOVE

KEN BRIDGES

1951 - 2002

The Honorable Elijah Muhammad advanced the principle, "Accept Your Own, And Be Yourself." That is now reflected in MATAH.

We give thanks to God for giving to us Brother Ken Bridges, Co-founder of "MATAH" and understand the need to redirect Black spending for the benefit of people of African descent.

He displayed the breath of fresh air that rushes the sweet wind beneath the wings of the MATAH flight to freedom.

Although, Brother Ken was a recent victim of the now infamous Washington D.C. area Sniper, scripture teaches us "speak not of those slain in the way of God as dead, they live though you perceive not."

Bridges work of MATAH - n. (ma' tah) MATAH Network Inc. is the institution that is giving people of African descent another real chance at true freedom.

Practicing a race-first philosophy is the key to obtaining true freedom for people of African descent and who refuse to have that spirit crushed. It is not a slight against others, but in truth, it is a "Love For Self." Race-first means that a race of people have decided to put their interests first for the purpose of maximizing opportunities for the entire race.

The collective consciousness of people who consider themselves Jesus taught the principle now reflected in MATAH in his statement, "love your neighbor as you love yourself." and Brother Bridges taught economically cooperate with yourself.

Senior Citizen in dispute with Webb Dealership

A South side senior citizen was spared the worry of how to pay for a $20,000 car that almost ended up costing her twice as much before her Alderman and the City intervened on her behalf.

The odyssey of Ophelia Bridges, 82, and Webb Ford, 2601 W. 95th St., Evergreen park began a few months ago when Bridges saw an ad for a new Crown Victoria. The ad offered the car for $19,498 at 0.9% financing.

At the dealership, Bridges selected a different Crown Victoria than was featured in the ad. She put $10,000 down, signed the sales contract, and happily drove away. Later, she discovered that her new car cost her $40,999 at 4.9% interest and that her monthly car loan payments would be in excess of $500 for the next five years.

Bridges contacted Alderman Shirley Coleman (16) who referred the complaint to the Department of Consumer Services which persuaded Webb Ford to reduce the price of the car to $24,900 at 0% financing.

"Everyone, especially seniors, needs to make sure that they understand the terms of a contract before they sign on the dotted line," said Caroline Orzac Shoenberger, Commissioner of the Department of Consumer Services.

"It is easy to misunderstand the financial fine print but no one wants to end up paying more than they can afford which is why it is important to carefully read the contract, ask questions, and bring someone with you to assist if needed." Shoenberger added.

Dealerships and their salespeople also should do a better job of telling customers that additional options and newer models lead to higher sticker prices.

The Department of Consumer Services has consumer fact sheets available with tips on how to purchase a new or used car. For a free copy, call 312-744-9400.

"Got A Felony?" Can't get a job or housing" Expungement and HB 1961

Tens of thousands of Illinois ex-offenders have completed their sentences, but are yet unable to regain all the rights and privileges promised to Illinois citizens.

The Chicago Coalition for the Homeless charged that law abiding men, women, and youth across Illinois who earlier in their lives made unfortunate choices or were found innocent that resulted in their involvement with the criminal justice system, have paid their debt to society and deserve a second chance.

The organization is working to help ex-offenders have better success upon release from prison conducted a recent survey with the assistance of the Cook County Sheriff office shows that the 1200 per 1300, majority of women in Cook County Jail are homeless. Out of 235 women, 54% homeless upon being release. Only 8 had a home to go to.

The survey also found, the others upon release would return to abuse, sexual assault and domestic violence.

HB 1961 allows Cook County to seek funds to establish a Residential Treatment and Transition center for women.

The Bill passed the Senate and the senate judiciary Committee by an 11-0 vote Cook County Board, president, John Stroger, oppose the bill until funding by the state is in place

Impact of Neighborhood Segregation on Black Homeowners.

A recent Brookings Institution report finds that Black homeowners are hurt most by neighborhood segregation. The Brookings Institution Center on Urban and Metropolitan Policy released, "The 'Segregation Tax': What Racial Segregation Costs Black Homeowners," it examines home ownership as a wealth creation tool for different ethnic and racial groups in the nation's 100 largest metropolitan areas. The report finds that after equalizing for income, Black homeowners had substantially less value in their homes than white homeowners. Home value and equity are the typical American family's most important financial asset, and often the only vehicle for passing wealth to children and grandchildren.

In recent years, federal policies have focused on increasing the percentage of Americans who own homes - particularly minorities, since their homeownership rates have lagged behind those of whites.

The report's key findings are: (1) Home values for Black homeowners were 18% less than values for White homeowners. For every dollar of income, White homeowners owned $2.64 worth of house. By contrast, Black homeowners owned only $2.16 worth of house. (2) Both Black and White homeowners were hurt by high levels of racial segregation.

Cointelpro

tionally collect information about people. It was a conscious program to neutralize political dissidents. In addition, even though covert operations had been employed throughout FBI history, the formal Cointelpro operations conducted from 1956 to 1971 were broadly targeted against what were perceived as radical political organizations. These activities included infiltrating African American groups and fomenting discord and antagonism. Even more were FBI activities to investigate and suggest violent and illegal actions on the part of Black groups.

It is estimated that the FBI conducted over 500,000 separate investigations of "subversive" persons or groups from 1960 to 1974, predicated on the possibility that they might try to overthrow the government by force. Yet, not a single individual or group was prosecuted under the laws prohibiting action to overthrow the government. Nonetheless, numerous individuals were imprisoned, lost their jobs, and lives, or were otherwise maligned on unrelated or spurious charges in order to "neutralize" them and to prevent the spread of their political views.

"Obviously, 'Counterintelligence' was a misnomer for the FBI programs then, and today's critics fear the same is true. The people the FBI targeted were U.S. political dissidents and not foreign spies. Beal added, that today, the attempt by the FBI at a power grab and the further consolidation of a police state apparatus within the United States is truly frightening.

On another front, Laura Murphy, director of the ACLU's Washington office, warns, "there is no proof that the incessant seizure of new powers by Congress and the Bush Administration does anything to increase safety. Indeed, if we don't take up this struggle, we will have lost the right to fight racial inequities because the demand will be treated as aiding and abetting terrorist activity."

Frances M. Beal is a political columnist for the San Francisco

The Rosenwald

The Rosenwald was one of the first examples of "workforce housing" constructed by the famous philanthropist Julius Rosenwald at the request of Booker T. Washington before his death. Mr. Rosenwald was the president of Sears and supporter of Mr. Washington and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Overlooking a landscaped courtyard, the reminiscent of the past duplexes or penthouses occupying the 3rd, 4th, and 5th floors added attraction for the new middle class into the community. Notables like Quincy Jones, Joe Louis, Nat King Cole, and a sizable percentage of Chicago's African American human capital resided at the historical structure.

Johnson stated revitalizing this building offers an opportunity for elected officials to make well the promises and failures of Chicago's Empowerment Zone designation. Johnson asked, what better way to celebrate the accomplishments of the ancestors.

Johnson points out that some units will be replaced with new CHA units, "Enough time has passed for everyone to realize that there is not enough affordable housing available in the city of Chicago to meet the growing needs of the working poor."

"Four years have past since the new 'Welfare to Work Initiative"

hit. What percentage of the newly employed is able to get adequate affordable housing in the newly gentrified also the resident business development that should have occurred through the One Stop Capital Shop Initiative part of the Empowerment Zone tool." stated Johnson.

"Reparations Now! That is what we are demanding. The Rosenwald Re-development plan will be owned by CHA and community residents transitioning from welfare to work that may or may not have a Section 8 certificate, which can be exchanged for a mortgage. The arrangement is on line with the plans of Julius Rosenwald and Booker T. Washington."

"President Bush has offered a comprehensive agenda to encourage homeownership for all Americans to at least 5.5 million people by the end of the decade. As the third ward Republican Committeeman, this is one of the President's goals that is going to extend ownership to the people many of these programs were targeted to. My people."

"With the presidents agenda to help remove the barriers to homeownership that stand in the way of our nation's African-American, Hispanic and other minority families, this is one historical movement should be made. Whatever the cost maybe." Johnson said.
